

Italians Will: Die For Hitler, Mussolini—Or Live For Italy, Civilization

Washington, July 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in a virtual ultimatum, today told Italy that the time has come for her to "decide whether Italians shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or live for Italy and for civilization."

In a joint statement issued simultaneously at the White House and in London (at 7 a. m., EWT) the two United Nations leaders told the people of Italy that the sole hope of Italy's survival "lies in honorable capitulation to the overwhelming power of the military forces of the United Nations."

EVIL OF NAZIS
"If you continue to tolerate the Fascist regime which serves the evil power of the Nazis, you must suffer the consequences of your own choice," the statement said.

With Allied forces sweeping across Sicily toward the Italian mainland, the President and British prime minister in their message broadcast to Italy from Algiers and other adjacent Allied points, said they could take no satisfaction in invading Italian soil and bringing the tragic devastation of war home to the Italian people.

They added that they were determined, however, to "destroy the false leaders and their doctrines which have brought Italy to her present position."

NO VICTORY HOPES

The release of the joint statement, which followed several informal invitations in recent months that Italy get out of the war, was the signal for a propaganda drive which included the dropping of thousands of leaflets on Italy by Allied bombers in addition to beaming the message to the people of Italy by radio.

Asserting that Germany's hopes for world conquest "have been blasted on all fronts," the joint statement declared the skies over Italy are dominated by vast Allied air armadas and Italy's coasts are threatened "by the greatest accumulation of British and Allied seapower ever concentrated in the Mediterranean."

They added:
"Every moment that you resist the combined forces of the United Nations—every drop of blood that you sacrifice—can serve only one purpose: To give the Fascist and Nazi leaders a little more time to escape from the inevitable consequences of their own crimes."

The 600-word message concluded:

LIVE OR DIE

"The time has now come for you, the Italian people, to consult your own self respect and your own interests and your own desire for a restoration of national dignity, security and peace. The time has come for you to decide whether Italians shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or live for Italy and for civilization."

The White House called newspaper offices less than a half hour before making public the joint statement. Many reporters were routed out of bed to rush to the executive offices and handle it.

Asserting Mussolini had plunged the Italian people into a war which he thought "Hitler had already won," the President and prime minister said that at this moment the combined armed forces of the United States and Great Britain

W. J. SOWERS, 71, IS FOUND DEAD

W. J. Sowers, 71, was found dead about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon a short distance from his home a few minutes after he had left his house in Mt. Tabor to return to work on his farm.

Dr. C. G. Crist, county coroner, was investigating the death this afternoon.

Mr. Sowers had been in ill health for some time, but had appeared better in recent weeks and had done some work on his farm this morning. He had gone out to the fields after lunch to continue working.

About 15 minutes after he had left his home, a bread delivery man saw him lying in a path near the house. The breadman called Mrs. Sowers and neighbors to the scene and they found Mr. Sowers dead.

Mrs. Sowers, who was the former Sarah Wise, survives as do two sons, Wayne Sowers, in the Coast Guard, and Fred Sowers, at home.

PUC ORDERS RR. TO PAY SHARE OF DAMAGE CLAIMS

The Public Utility Commission of Pennsylvania today granted the petition of the Adams county commissioners who requested that the Western Maryland railroad be compelled to reimburse the county in part for money paid out to property owners to satisfy damage claims growing out of grade crossing removals at Brush Run and Guldens, an Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg stated today.

The commissioners' office at the court house said that the county is advancing the money to cover the damage claims and is to be reimbursed by the state and the railroad company for their respective shares of the sums being paid over. The commissioners already have paid six of the eight claims and have received first reimbursements from the state and railroad, it was stated.

In line with an agreement before the crossing changes were undertaken, the county will bear 20 per cent of the damage claim total; the state Highway department, 30 per cent, and the Western Maryland railroad, the remaining 50 per cent.

Total Above $15,000
When the last of the claims is adjusted—one remains under litigation in the county court on an appeal from an April jury's verdict—the damages are expected to total between $15,000 and $16,000.

Last fall special boards of viewers fixed damages in each of the eight cases, but six of the claimants appealed. Three subsequently dropped their appeals while the three others went before juries in April court. Frank and Dulcie Heverly were awarded $950 damages by the viewers and $900 by the jury in court. They have asked for a new trial of their claim.

Other claimants and the amounts agreed upon in each case follow: R. C. Mickle, $1,825; Ellis R. and Z. Blanche Miller, $2,500; Edgar and Margaret Weaver, $5,850; Samuel K. Osborne, $904; Jacob and Etta King, $1,621.33; G. N. and Gertrude Waters, $2,250; Margaret, Lilia and Charles Otto, $5.

Won't Take Check

In the Otto case the commissioners face an unusual condition. The Ottos, who never appeared at any hearing to present a claim for the fraction of an acre of their land used in the relocation of the railroad tracks, have refused to accept the $5 award set by the county viewers last fall.

"We never asked anything for the land and we don't expect to take anything for it," they told Clarence C. Smith, clerk to the commissioners, when he attempted to deliver their check.

The check, which includes $1 of county money, $3 of Western Maryland and $2 of state funds, has been returned to County Treasurer John W. Brehm until it is decided what to do about the $5 "claim."

OBJECTION IN EQUITY FILED

Preliminary objections to the contention of Gettysburg college that it should not pay taxes on the Aughinbaugh property, Springs avenue, were filed at the court house Thursday afternoon by Bulleit and Bulleit, Esqs., for the borough of Gettysburg and Adams county.

The objections were the same in both answers to the equity suit instituted by the college asking that the town, county and school board be prevented from placing taxes on the property which is being used by the college as a dormitory for coeds.

The school board had previously exonerated the place from taxes.

The preliminary objections allege that the college's bill "has set forth no facts sufficient to entitle it to the equitable relief prayed for," because it "failed to allege facts sufficient to show that it is an institution entitled to exemptions from taxation under the state constitution and later laws and it also fails to show that the premises on Springs avenue should be freed of taxes."

It's A Pediculous War For Parasita Pasturers

By KENNETH L. DIXON

Washington, July 16 (AP)—It's a pediculous war out at the National Institute of Health where a handful of home front heroes have been energetically scratching for victory since last December.

They're pasturing parasita, which is the scientific way of saying they're crawling with cooties.

Penned up in little pill-boxes, under their shirts or stockings, they're keeping a colony of lice alive with their blood—in order to learn how said lice can be killed before they carry disease and death to Johnny Doughboy.

"We're on the right track," was the comment today of Mrs. Thomas B. Nolan, zoologist who has provided personal pasture for thousands of lice as her part in the war effort. "But until we're sure, we don't like to talk much about the progress of our experiments."

Since wars began, lice have carried typhus and relapsing fever into the blood streams of soldiers, so Dr. H. W. Wright, chief of the Institute's Zoology division, decided last December to seek a streamlined, scientific delousing system. To get him started, the Army Medical service lo-

OPA AUTHORIZES FIRST VACATION TRIP GAS HERE

No rush for special permits for vacation use of gasoline had developed up to noon today at the local War Price and Rationing board office, it was disclosed today with the announcement that during Thursday—the first day on which the special permits could be issued—and this morning only eight "A" card holders had sought the right to make vacation trips with their basic ration of gasoline.

A board announcement said that four of the applications were granted, one was refused and three others were held up temporarily pending the receipt of additional information by the rationing officials.

Under the OPA regulations motorists may apply for authorization to make one vacation or summer resort trip, on specified dates, with their basic "A" ration, if no adequate alternate means of transportation are available. The applicant must appear personally to supply information required on the application.

Won't Give Extra Gas

An office spokesman pointed out this morning that authorization for vacation trips cannot be issued if use of the car is intended only to save time, to reduce travel costs or because it would be more convenient to the applicant. Circumstances in each case guide the individual decisions, it was explained.

Among other requirements, the applicant must convince the board that he has enough fuel in his tank or enough "A" coupons in his ration book to make the round trip he plans.

The board has the right to impound supplemental gas ration books of the applicants for the duration of the trip but to date the local board has not followed that course. One applicant voluntarily turned over his "C" book to convince the board he intended to use only "A" coupons on his projected trip.

Another son of Mr. Miller's, Captain Paul L. Miller, a graduate of Princeton university, is on duty with the Field Artillery at Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

A third son, H. C. L. Miller, Jr., is serving with the Lend-Lease division of the federal government.

NEED HOSIERY, RAGS AND PAPER

A concerted drive to increase rag, brown paper, hosiery and paper collections in Adams county will be held during the next few weeks. O. H. Benson, chairman of the county salvage committee, said today.

The regional office of the War Production Board has advised the county that a shortage of wiping and other forms of rags is developing rapidly. Mr. Benson said, and as a result a special rag salvage program is requested.

"Virtually all rag production today is for war purposes," the county salvage committee head asserted. "The Army and Navy, as well as war plants, are demanding more wiping cloths than the industry is able to provide and inventories of rag dealers are down from 50 to 75 per cent under 1942. New rags cannot be used because the imports of wool from Australia and other countries has been reduced so much by lack of shipping facilities that the Army has been forced to authorize the use of reprocessed woollens in the manufacture of Army overcoats and blankets."

"This situation must be relieved. All kinds of rags and rope are wanted, cotton, broadcloth, linen, rayon, silk, woollens, felts, mattresses, twine, hemp rope and the like. It is not necessary for the housewife to sort her rags, but we recommend that she wash them. Sterilizing is done after the rag dealers classify the material."

"War uses for rags include rags for blue print paper. A carload of rags goes into the blueprint paper required to design one battleship."

TRAVELS 32,000 MILES IN ARMY; ESCAPES CRASH

Staff Sergeant Richard Fetters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clark L. Fetters, Gardners R. D., traveled 32,000 miles while on duty with the Army—but he had to wait until he was on his way to make his first visit to the home of his parents in three years before he was in a serious accident.

Stationed at Puerto Rico on special detail he was sent on a tour of duty to Guam, Panama, Cuba and Africa and was in and out of the war zones a number of times without accident.

On his way home he was on a train when it crashed into another train, injuring 37 civilians, in Illinois. Sergeant Fetters was uninjured. He and other service men were immediately rerouted on another train, so he lost little time in continuing onward to start his 14-day furlough with his parents.

Joins Army in 1940

Sergeant Fetters enlisted in the Army in 1940 immediately after his graduation from the Arendtsville Vocational high school. Stationed at first at Fort Slocum, New York he later was assigned to special duty in Puerto Rico where he learned Spanish and was selected to make a tour of inspection of various posts throughout the world. He checked rations and other equipment at various camps. Puerto Rico remains his permanent station.

During the various trips he has made he has met several countians. Several he met on a train in the United States and did not have time enough to talk to them to learn their names. On the boat home from Puerto Rico he met the Rutters family of Gettysburg which had been in Puerto Rico for some time while he was there, but he had not known of their presence then.

He received his promotion to staff sergeant just before leaving Puerto Rico for the trip home.

HOW ABOUT 40 RAINLESS DAYS?

Forty days of dry weather is in store for Gettysburg, if the old superstition is to be believed.

From time immemorial the legend has run that if the weather is dry on St. Swithin's Day it will remain rainless for forty additional days, and that the converse was true if it rained.

Thursday was St. Swithin's day and not a drop of rain fell during the 24 hours. Residents have approximately 39 more days to determine if the legend is true.

OPERATED UPON ON HIGH SEAS

Donald H. Starry, Seaman, first class, is recuperating from an appendectomy, performed on the high seas, in a naval hospital overseas, it was learned here today.

Seaman Starry's father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Starry, Aspers R. 1, were notified of the sailor's illness by the county Red Cross today. The Red Cross was asked to notify the parents of young Starry by Miss Jean Napier, assistant field director of the Red Cross at the hospital.

Starry was admitted to the hospital June 20, the letter states, and was very ill at that time. "I did not write the letter immediately because I felt it would be better to wait until the letter could carry some hopeful news, rather than worry his family. He is still weak and while he is 'not out of the woods' his condition is gratifying."

"He was operated for a ruptured appendix while at sea. Peritonitis was present. The doctors here say he had the best medical care possible under the conditions."

The letter concludes by stating, "do tell the family that they must not worry. He has the finest of medical care. The commanding officer is planning to write the family right away."

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, July 16 (AP)—The Allied command announced the capture of 13 more towns all along the moon-shaped Sicilian front today and observers said the enemy might henceforth be compelled to fight a defensive rearguard action while withdrawing from the island.

More than 18,000 Axis prisoners had been drawn into the Allied bag in an invasion that was only in its seventh day.

With the immediate prize of Catania, half way up the east coast, near at hand, the veterans of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery were said in today's communique from Allied headquarters to have "made further progress against German troops who desperately contested every inch of the ground."

Patton Advances

(The Rome radio, in a broadcast recorded in London, said "the real and true decision for the island will be reached in a new battle which has already virtually started in the Catania plain.")

"Severe losses were inflicted upon the enemy" by the American Seventh Army of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., which "advanced several miles across difficult hill country and captured further important positions," the communique added. Although the headquarters bulletin said the "speed of the advance is very satisfactory" it called attention to the limiting factor of Allied transport and supporting weapons at this stage of the operations.

The reorganized Hermann Goering tank division of the Germans had suffered heavy losses in attempting to oppose the British push toward Catania, headquarters reports said, but the German 15th Armored division was known to be in reserve.

Defenses Crumbling

However, observers expressed the opinion that the enemy, with only limited and doubtful forces at his disposal, had staked most of his resources in this effort to hold the Allies south of Catania and that his defenses were disintegrating.

They expressed confidence that with "an appreciable number of tanks" already in Sicily the Allies would be able to deal satisfactorily with any counterattack the enemy might mount.

In their latest action, Allied warships again shelled Catania, and a destroyer accounted for another enemy motor torpedo boat.

The 13 towns listed as captured by the communique included several already known to be in Allied hands. They were:

Canicattini, Comiso, Biscari, Canicatt, Bagni, Vizzini, Vittoria, Niscemi, Campobello, Palma di Montechiaro, Sortino, Modica and Riesi.

Straddle Highway

Canicatt, Niscemi, Bagni, Vizzini, Vittoria, Campobello and Palma di Montechiaro were captured in the American sector of the front.

The taking of Vizzini put General Patton's men astride the central highway connecting the Axis' eastern and western front. Vizzini is on the slopes of the Iblei mountains and about 25 miles west of Augusta.

The American Seventh Army, in fanning out over a deepening expanse of its long coastal strip, had captured 15,992 prisoners.

Meanwhile the overpowering air strength of the Allies was thrown afresh into a series of paralyzing blows, both at the Italian mainland and Sicily itself.

Naples In Flames

An assault in the last 24 hours on Naples, comparable to the previous day's strike at Messina, turned a two-mile long, mile wide waterfront area of the biggest Italian port city into a smoking inferno.

An ammunition train exploded and docks, warehouses and locomotives burned furiously, and smoke hung in the air to a height of 20,000 feet after the arsenal was hit.

This was after bombers hit the port Wednesday night, attacking

PRAISES TIMING OF ULTIMATUM TO ITALIANS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Roosevelt-Churchill ultimatum to the people of Italy is an astutely logical development, delivered with what appears to be fine timing.

The Italian public as a whole never has had its heart in this war. The country was swept into the conflict by Mussolini's sudden treachery against France and, once caught in the mill-race, couldn't get out.

As I previously have reported in this column, back as far as the fateful Munich conference, when the power-mad but pusillanimous Duce was beginning to sniff the Hitlerian heels, I found in Italy a widespread feeling of abhorrence for the Nazi leader and his works. The average Italian had no use for Hitler, and decidedly had no intention of going to war to support him.

King Gains Esteem

Even then there was a great undercurrent of unrest and resentment at the repression of the dictatorship. The people lived in constant fear—so much so that they were afraid to speak their minds openly, and so suffered in silence.

Their trouble was that they had no champion to lead them in revolt against Mussolini. The King at that time had lost his hold on the respect of many of his people, and was regarded more or less as a figurehead and helpless in the hands of the Duce.

Since then, however, there has been a change in Italy. The royal house seems to have made a recovery in the esteem of the public, and the old King has been asserting himself.

Cannon Fodder For Hitler

Coincidentally, we have seen the curious spectacle of Italian staff officers coolly surrendering en bloc in Sicily, and their soldiers happily following suit. Obviously many of the Roman troops had no intention of resisting the invasion but, on the contrary, welcomed it. That's not because they are unwilling to fight for their country but because it's clear to them that they aren't battling for the fatherland but are merely providing cannon fodder for Hitler.

Back at the time of Tunisia, Italian prisoners were bitter in their denunciation of the Boche. And it may be said that the Germans thoroughly despise their allies.

So it is into such an atmosphere that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill have pitched their ultimatum. There's no mincing of words in warning that "the sole hope for Italy's survival lies in honorable capitulation," but it holds out the fair promise of "restoration of national dignity, security and peace" to the Italians.

Sins On Record

Of course, the pressure from Hitler is very great, and he has many troops and secret police in Italy to maintain his power. That is calculated to have a restraining influence on a lot of folk. Still, there can be no question that a large percentage of the people are ready for revolt and only need a strong leader to set them marching.

This is the crucial moment when the King might step in and save his country from further suffering. It's doubtful if Hitler could do much to restrain a concerted movement, for he is up to his neck in troubles north of the Alps. Certainly the Allied leadership has gauged the situation shrewdly in issuing the ultimatum.

Whatever else that document does, it will forever live in history as a castigation of the treacherous Mussolini. His sins are definitely on record.

airdromes, docks and railway facilities, and after unscathed Flying Fortresses had continued the assault by daylight.

Palermo docks also were severely pounded by medium bombers during the day, and Paterno, a focal point of enemy communications, came in for a heavy blow by night.

3 Airfields Ruined

Meanwhile, approximately 70 Liberators from the Middle East were said in a United States communication to have "made a flaming shambles of the main and two satellite" airfields at Foggia on the spur of the Italian boot.

Four-engined RAF Halifaxes from the Middle East continued the assault on Messina Wednesday night, finding fires still raging that had been set in the previous 24 hours. In a steady attrition of enemy shipping, Allied planes torpedoed a large merchantship off the north coast of Sardinia, and severely damaged at least three others.

Well in advance of the rolling Allied troops British and American air-borne and parachute forces swooped from the skies to knock out centers of enemy resistance and pave the way for the oncoming tank and infantry units.

FEW FATHERS TO BE CALLED IN '43

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Most of the nation's fathers will still be in civilian clothes by October, perhaps much longer, say draft officials who are counting on single and childless married men, and the 'teen-age group to meet the armed forces' requirements.

This continued immunity from selective service applies however only to those fathers living with and supporting children born before last September 15 and working at jobs outside the non-deferrable list. About 6,500,000 have those qualifications.

This was the draft picture given reporters by Major Emmett Solomon of selective service's manpower division yesterday.

The 1,566,000 single and childless married men already classified as available for immediate induction will fill the quotas for July, August and September, although some will win reclassification on appeal and about 40 per cent will be rejected and put into class 4-F.

GETS NEW STRIPE

Corporal William L. Ingle, son of John Studebaker, Aspers, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant at the Pecos Army air field in Texas, where he is stationed. Sergeant Ingle was employed as a carpenter at Chambersburg before he entered the Army.

AT PARRIS ISLAND

An announcement from the Marine induction station at Philadelphia lists three youths from Adams county who have recently been sent to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Parris Island, South Carolina. They are Donald James Cole, North Stratton street; George William Mortorff, Gardeners R. 2, and Robert W. Troxell.

FINISHES SCHOOL

PFC James G. Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Black, Aspers R. 1, has graduated from the armor school of the Army Air Force at Lowry Field, Colorado, according to an announcement from that post. A graduate of the Biglerville high school in 1941, he entered the Army in March. Formerly he worked at the Glenn L. Martin plant in Philadelphia.

REFUSE MINERS JOBLESS PAY

Harrisburg, July 16 (AP)—The state has refused to pay unemployment compensation to Pennsylvania coal miners who took part in work stoppages that stemmed from failure of operators and union to reach accord on a new contract.

The bureau of employment and unemployment compensation was directed by William H. Chesnut, secretary of labor and industry, to disallow benefit claims for unemployment after May 1, 1943, on the grounds that the miners voluntarily left work "without good cause."

"I could not consistently have taken any other course," Chesnut declared in a statement. "As a Pennsylvania official charged with the administration of unemployment compensation, I would have been remiss in duty had I done otherwise."

He added: "the purpose of the Pennsylvania Unemployment Compensation Act is to provide compensation for loss of wages suffered by employees during period of unemployment suffered through no fault of their own."

Officials did not estimate the amount of compensation which might be involved and said only the first trickle of claims had been received. About 190,000 miners work in the state's anthracite and bituminous coal fields.

BULLETINS

Washington, July 16 (AP)—In a series of anti-submarine battles in the north Atlantic, the planes of a single baby aircraft carrier recently successfully attacked 10 German submarines, definitely destroying two and probably destroying eight others, and delivered two convoys safely across the Atlantic to American forces poised for actions against Hitler Europe.

Moscow, July 16 (AP)—The Russians struck fresh blows at the Germans today from points 37 miles north and 25 miles east of Orel, sending elements of 10 Nazi divisions reeling back and scattered in rain-soaked forests and fields. Other Red divisions whittled down the minor German bulge some 165 miles to the south and repulsed all fresh enemy attacks which continued at a furious pace, dispatches said.

Allied Headquarters in North Africa, July 16 (AP)—The hard-punching British Eighth Army was reported within 15 miles of Catania in a northward surge up the Sicilian coast today after falling upon two German armored divisions and severely mauling them.

Allied Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, July 16 (AP)—Outwitting the wily Japanese at his own jungle game of stealing up from behind, American and Australian fighters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur possessed the Mubo gateway to Salamaua today after wiping out 950 surprised defenders in a brilliant New Guinea maneuver. The abrupt collapse of hill positions bestride which the Japanese for months barred the way along the jungle track leading to their Salamaua air base, 12 miles to the north, was announced in a communique which also recorded a spectacular air victory.

Harrisburg, July 16 (AP)—Sixteen of 20 civilian employees of the Army's Middletown Air Depot charged with misuse of gasoline ration coupons were arrested by deputy U. S. marshals today at the change of shifts at the depot.

No Early Solution Seen In Coal Case

New York, July 16 (AP)—Agreement on a wage contract between anthracite coal operators and the United Mine Workers union before the soft coal case is settled appears doubtful, according to a source close to the operators.

The source, who declined to be quoted by name, said yesterday that "it seems apparent that the consummation of an anthracite wage contract has been stymied by the bituminous situation."

"If this is the case, it is doubtful if an agreement will be reached until the bituminous case is fully and actually settled."

The War Labor board recently issued an order extending the bituminous miners' expired contracts for two years with minor pay boosts and a no-strike clause inserted. Such a contract was never signed.

MEDWICK SOLD

New York, July 16 (AP)—Joe Medwick, Brooklyn outfielder, today was sold to the New York Giants for the waiver price of $7,500. Eddie Brannick, secretary of the Giants, said that no other players were involved and that the veteran player, who broke into the majors with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1932, would report to the Giants in Philadelphia tomorrow.

CHICKEN "OFF" LOCAL MARKET

On occasions during these war-time days beef, butter, coffee and other commodities have been "off the market" for short intervals, but a chicken disappeared from the market entirely here the other day.

James Slaybaugh, a farmer near Biglerville, brought two chickens to town recently to sell to local customers. One customer wanted the bigger of the White Rock fowls. The chickens were weighed at the Acme store and the customer, John Heck, purchased the larger. The farmer carried the other chicken outside the store. Just outside the door, the chicken flopped out of Mr. Slaybaugh's arms and dashed for freedom across the square in the general direction of the Hotel Gettysburg. Mr. Slaybaugh and others gave chase and saw the chicken disappear under a line of cars parked in front of the hotel. Some boys crept under some of the cars to see if they could find the fowl.

Later everybody concerned gave up looking and the chicken has not been seen as yet.

Amateur detectives in the crowd surmised the chicken crawled up among the various braces under a car and went along home with some unsuspecting motorist.

WILLKIE TALKS OF '44 PLANS

New York, July 16 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie will be a candidate for the 1944 Republican Presidential nomination if Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, enters the Illinois Preferential primary next April.

The 1940 GOP nominee showed his hand yesterday, challenging McCormick to a campaign for the Illinois primary vote.

Willkie, in an interview, was asked: "Have you seen reports that Colonel McCormick may run in the Illinois primary for the Republican Presidential nomination?"

"Yes," was his written reply. "I certainly hope it is true. For then I could really make the issue clear—the greatest issue of the day—American relations to the rest of the world and liberal internal domestic policies."

Asked if he would enter other Preferential primaries, Willkie said that could be decided later. His present plan is to make a complete survey in January then decide future moves.

WEATHER GOES BACK TO NORMAL

Gettysburg has experienced a week of "about normal temperatures" after two weeks in June when the thermometer soared to the highest sustained heat wave in 20 years and the first week of July when the temperature dropped to "considerably below normal," according to Dr. Henry Stewart, local weather observer.

The temperature at noon Thursday was 84 degrees, "just about normal for the day," while on Wednesday the mercury was 19 degrees above normal.

One of the largest rains this summer fell on Tuesday night when .86 inches was recorded.

Rains throughout the county however have been spotty, with some sections reporting a number of good rains and other sections of the county missing the showers.

Storms Over State

The threatening thunderstorm of Wednesday evening broke in other sections of Pennsylvania, causing widespread damage, the Associated Press has reported. Two youths were killed at Butler when struck by lightning as they rode atop a load of hay. The youngsters were William Anthony, Jr. 15, and Eugene Ulrich, 18, both of Butler. A third youth who had been on the wagon with the other boys left it just a few moments before the lightning struck.

Throughout western Pennsylvania numerous streets and cellars were flooded, traffic disrupted, trees and wires broken down. Lightning destroyed a barn and hit at least five homes in the Butler area where two and one-half inches of rain fell.

Italians Will:

"are carrying the war deep into the territory of your country."

SHAMEFUL LEADERSHIP
"This is the direct consequence," it continued, "of the shameful leadership to which you have been subjected by Mussolini and his Fascist regime."

It added that the Fascist leaders sent Italian sons, ships and air forces to distant battlefields to aid Germany in her attempt to conquer England, Russia and the world, in spite of Italy's great vulnerability to attack by air and sea.

"This association," the United Nations leaders told the Italian people, "with the designs of Nazi controlled Germany was unworthy of Italy's ancient traditions of freedom and culture—traditions to which the people of America and Great Britain owe so much."

They said Italian soldiers have fought courageously, but have been betrayed and abandoned by the Germans on the Russian front and on every African battlefield from El Alamein to Cape Bon.

SAYS CAR TRIPS WERE OFFICIAL

Pittsburgh, July 16 (AP)—Alvin J. Williams, district manager of the Office of Price Administration, has denied that he took unwarranted trips in his automobile.

Williams' office issued a statement, declaring that all trips made by the manager to Centerville, Pa., were in his 1,000-acre farm near that city, and that he had obtained OPA permission to make the trips prior to his connection with OPA.

The statement came in answer to a letter released by Watson M. McKee, who was ousted last week as chairman of the McKeesport ration board. McKee said he received the letter from a dozen Titusville residents and that it accused Williams of making "week-end pleasure trips to his summer home."

The letter said Williams had "C" books for a station wagon and an automobile and declared that his daughter drove "daily to his lodge at Canadota lake to go swimming."

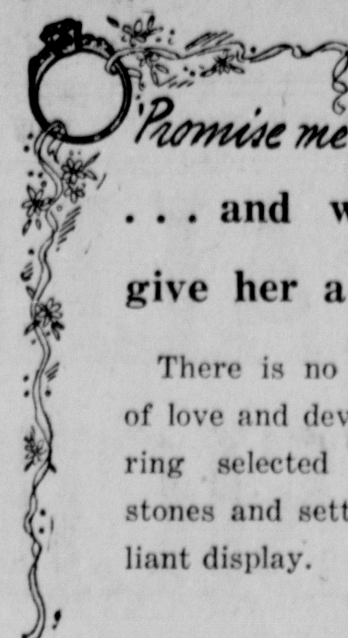

Williams replied personally to the latter charge. He said: "She goes to the lake to get 200 pounds of ice to take back to the farm. While there, she may go swimming. As long as her purpose is to get ice, this driving is permitted by the OPA."

HOSPITAL REPORT

Among those admitted to the Warner hospital are Mrs. Irene Hughes, Littlestown R. 2; Richard Taylor, Aspers R. 1, and Mrs. Elizabeth Baughman, Uniontown, Maryland. Those discharged include Mrs. Paul Kargas and infant daughter, Paula Elaine, 68 West Middle street.

TYPHUS IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, July 16 (AP)—The Pittsburgh health department last night reported discovery of what it termed the first case of typhus ever found in the city. Health Director I. Hope Alexander said Antoine de Pasqua, 61, admitted to Passavant hospital June 25, is suffering from the disease.

Storm Brews In Dodgers' Camp As Medwick Is Left Behind From Road Trip

RICKEY WILL MAKE EFFORT TO SELL STAR

By JUDSON BAILEY

The Associated Press
The bums rush is on in Brooklyn for fair and this time the heaven-ho is about to go to Joseph Michael (Muscles) Medwick, the once celebrated outfielder whose usefulness to the Dodgers, like that of Louis Norman (Bobo) Newsom, apparently has come to an end.

When the ball club left New York last night for a three-weeks' trip away from the stormy scene of insurrection at Ebbets Field, Medwick was left at home.

Although the maneuver was shrouded in mystery by club officials, no mirrors were needed to see behind the veil of Branch Rickey's house-cleaning.

Opposes Medwick
Having moved to wipe out the rebellion against the manager, Leo Durocher, by trading Newsom to the St. Louis Browns for two antiquated pitchers, Fritz Ostermueller and Archie McKain, Rickey has 26 players on his roster, one over the limit, and was compelled to get rid of another man.

His choice of Medwick was connected only indirectly with the rebellion. Rickey had been trying to dispose of him ever since becoming president of the Dodgers last November. He didn't like the temperament of the famous slugger, who never had batted less than .300 in 12 seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn and who had been the National League's batting champion and most valuable player in 1937.

Although he has come down a long way from his original asking price, Rickey's chances of making a deal for Medwick have faded with the player's performance this year. At present his batting average is .272 and he hasn't made a hit longer than a double.

Gain Half Game

Under baseball rules the Dodgers do not have to shave their roster until their acquisition in the Newsome deal report. This provided Rickey with an opportunity to make one final effort at trading Medwick before it would be necessary to simply cut him loose with an out-right release.

Last night Durocher simply announced that Medwick had been given "permission" to remain at home and that an explanation probably would be forthcoming today after the game with the Braves. Rickey's office said he would be out of town today.

In any case the Bums hit the headlines again at the same time they hit the road and their antics continued to provide a smokescreen over the activities of other clubs, most of whom resumed play yesterday after the all-star game layoff.

The Dodgers, while idle, even gained half a game on the Cardinals, who were whipped 4-3 at Pittsburgh last night as Maurice van Robays, just returned from a minor league whirl at Toronto, collected a double and two singles to a 14-hit attack on Max Lanier.

Cubs Bounce Reds
The Chicago Cubs bunched five runs in the third and three in the eighth to crush the Cincinnati Reds 8-0 behind the four-hit hurling of Hiram Bithorn. Bill Nicholson hit his 12th home run with two on in the eighth. The spree interrupted the winning parade of Elmer Riddle, who had won nine of his last ten games.

The Phillies pounded a 9-1 victory out of the New York Giants as Richard (Kewpie) Barrett pitched steady seven-hit ball. The only run against him was a homer by Buster Maynard.

In the American league Orval Grove attained his eighth triumph without defeat by pitching five-hit ball as the Chicago White Sox downed the Detroit Tigers 7-4.

Washington whipped the Boston Red Sox 4-3 with Bob Johnson driving in three runs, two of them on a homer. Each team made five hits, but the Red Sox bunched theirs for three runs in the second before Alex Carasquel came in to pitch seven innings and get his tenth victory.

The St. Louis Browns stopped the Cleveland Indians 2-1 in the only game played in daylight. A home run by Vernon Stephens, his 13th, accounted for both Brownie runs and a round-tripper by Ken Keltner produced the Tribe's tally, although Steve Sundra pitched a four-hitter.

SHIFT PRO GAME

Philadelphia, July 16 (AP)—Approval of National Football League Commissioner Elmer Layden was awaited today for shifting the game between the Philadelphia-Pittsburgh combine and the Green Bay Packers, scheduled for September 19 at Milwaukee, to Pittsburgh on September 12.

There are three million miles of roads in the United States, or one mile of road for each square mile of area.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 16 (AP)—A recent visitor to these precincts was Mrs. Violet Jean McClatchey, an attractive and very earnest young woman from Bartlesville, Oklahoma, by way of South Orange, New Jersey, who stopped to put in a few good words for the common copper cent. . . . The reason that Mrs. McClatchey thinks so highly of cents is that when 200,000 women bowlers start contributing them, they mount up to a good many pretty pennies, and as chairman of the War Service Committee of the Women's International Bowling Congress, Mrs. M. wants to keep the pennies, nickels and dimes pouring in. . . . She also is interested in giving her favorite sport full credit for its war contributions.

MORE THAN A GIRL

Last year the WIBC bought a bomber plane for the air forces, and "adopted" its crew, thereby giving Capt. William Chum and Sgt. William Morehead something of an advantage over sailors who have only one girl in every port. . . . "Miss WIBC" already has been in action and recently returned to Dayton, Ohio, for a checkup. . . . The girls found they had some money left over, so they bought an ambulance which will be presented to the Army soon, probably at Columbus, Ohio. . . . They're not setting any quotas for their contributions during the coming pin season, but they expect to pay for "one or more" ambulance planes at $80,000 each.

ALL IN THE KITTY

Impressive as these figures look, what really stirs Mrs. McClatchey's enthusiasm is the fact that a large part of the money comes from pennies dropped in the "kitty" for misses, splits, etc., during bowling matches. . . . One of her favorite novelties is putting a yellow pin in each pit—"they call it the Jap pin. Well named, don't you think?"—and collecting a cent for every time it is left standing on the first ball. . . . "In a week's time you collect a good many dollars," she points out, especially since about 6,000 women's leagues operate each season.

ALSO KNIT

In addition to contributing their small change, the women bowlers are doing such things as knitting for the Red Cross—you'll see them working with their needles while waiting their turns at the pins, writing letters to service men and women, including nearly 500 members of the WIBC in the services. . . . Some groups even have stopped bowling but continue their weekly meetings to knit or make bandages. . . . Those in uniform apparently haven't stopped bowling, for several applications for league sanctions have been granted. . . . "We think that writing letters is very important, too," Mrs. McClatchey adds. "I write to about 50 boys in service and sent them little gifts and make cookies for them. In fact, I think it is all very good work. If I didn't think so I'd get a job on the production line where I could do more good."

IN BUFFALO . . . ?

Changing the subject as far as possible, the boys who came down from Buffalo for the all-star baseball game say that Sen. Jim Mead is really steamed up over his idea of having the Army and Navy play football in some metropolitan center where a lot of people would pay to see it. . . . Wonder if he might be thinking of that big Buffalo stadium that never has been clear full? . . . Branch Rickey says he crosses his bridges when he comes to them. . . . If he runs into any more incidents like the Newsom-Durocher affair, Branch likely will be casting longing looks at the Brooklyn bridge—and wondering whether it would be quicker to talk or take the Fulton street car.

The soil of Manchoukuo is among the richest in the world.

SEEK PLAYERS FOR PRO LOOP

Duluth, Minn., July 16 (AP)—Can you punt a football, or pass, or drop kick?

Or maybe you have some other specialty you've developed that might mean a point or two in a crucial game?

Then you might have a chance to crash the big league—the National Football Circuit.

Ole Haugrud of Duluth, former owner of the Duluth Eskimos team, will take your application and pass it on to the New York Giants.

He's advertising in newspapers: "Football players wanted! Play football and work in defense plants on week days. Earn big money."

So far he has had nearly 100 responses and has sent contracts to about 15.

"I can't say who they are," he confides. "They're not signed yet. But you can say they're good prospects, unwanted by the military for one reason or another, none of which will interfere with their football playing."

Phillie Seek More Twirlers

Philadelphia, July 16 (AP)—The Phillies are looking for pitchers—even harder than usual.

With St. Johnson's Army induction imminent, the club has sold Charley Fuchs, right-handed fork-ball artist, to Toledo of the American association.

Since Catcher Tommy Padden has been sold to the Washington Senators, the Phillies wound up today with 22 players, three below the league limit.

Scout Bill Killefer searched the minor league highways and byways for replacements.

DEFEND GUARD IN MAN'S DEATH

Philadelphia, July 16 (AP)—James H. Brown, captain of guards at the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company's No. 4 yard at Chester, Pa., sought to establish his innocence before a Navy court martial Thursday of involuntary manslaughter in the death of an employee who was shot in a disorder at the yard last June 16.

Brown, a boatswain's mate in the Coast Guard Temporary Reserve, fired twice into the air before a third shot felled Frank Giddings, 24, according to testimony yesterday by Tommy Hampton, another guard.

Another of the nine witnesses who testified before the prosecution rested its case, Ernest M. Harding, a safety inspector at the all-negro yard, said that if Brown and the other guards had failed to use their pistols "none of them would have come out of that crowd alive."

Four other workers were shot in the disturbance, which, according to witnesses, began as Brown was escorting to the guard house a workman who lacked an identification badge. The other guards were exonerated of blame for the fatality at a corner's inquest earlier this week.

Frankie Sinkwich In Marine Corps

Atlanta, July 16 (AP)—Flat-Foot Frankie Sinkwich, the football fire-gang, became a Marine "boot" Thursday, but Frankie still thinks the gridiron is his destiny and he's looking forward to a lucrative professional career at the war's end.

The backfield ace, who galloped and passed his way to all-America fame with Wallace Butts' University of Georgia Bulldogs, recently was tapped by the Detroit Lions of the National Football league, but he signed with the Marines as a Reserve last fall before he went into his final Bulldog season.

VOLO SONG IS ILL WITH COLD

Cleveland, July 16 (AP)—Three-year-old trotters return to the stage today in North Randall's Grand Circuit racing—minus the company of the famed Hambletonian favorite, Volo Song.

The Volomite-sired speedster is recuperating from a cold and won't compete in the $6,800 championship stallion stake, feature of today's program.

Adios, last year's two-year-old pacing champion, dashed to a straight victory yesterday in the $2,280 stallion stake for pacers, turning mile heats in 2:01½ and 2:03.

Adios' time for the first mile was a new track record, and the best this season in the Grand Circuit, North Randall officials said.

Rupe Parker steered Adios home well ahead of second place King's Counsel, with Doc Marshall driving. Widow's Pride was third.

Longshot Tabb Hanover captured first money in the William Hughes pacing stake, taking a first, second and third and then coming home on top in a runoff. Most Dale, third place winner, won the second heat in 2:02½, fastest of the race.

Seven Up dashed home first twice and second once to win a 2:08 trot. Highly favored Highland Morning won the 2:14 trot in straight heats.

Scranton Defeated In Double-Header

(By The Associated Press)
Scranton leads the Eastern league like the Yankees lead the American, but that doesn't discourage second-division clubs a bit.

The Springfield Rifles came from behind twice in one game last night to sweep a doubleheader from the Red Sox 1-0 and 7-6, duplicating a feat Hartford pulled last Sunday.

Juan Montero tossed the shutout for the Rifles, allowing only two hits, and winning his own battle with a ringing double in the third inning.

Springfield grabbed a 7-6 verdict when two Scranton errors produced the winning run in the tenth.

Albany traded with Binghamton, losing the first game of a twin bill 3-1 and winning the second 7-3.

Elmira, meanwhile, was taking a firmer grip on third place with a sound 9-1 trouncing of Utica, and the Wilkes-Barre Barons maintained their distance in second place by dropping Hartford 9-7.

SPORTSMEN ARE USING BICYCLES

Harrisburg, July 16 (AP)—An increasing number of Pennsylvania sportsmen are discovering that the way to reach a favorite hunting or fishing spot these days is to jump on a bicycle and start pedaling.

The state commission today cited a growing trend toward cycling and Seth Gordon, executive director, asserted, "If I wanted to do some fishing and hunting, I would certainly use a bicycle to get there."

He advised hunters pedaling to the woods to be sure "to take their guns apart and not have any ammunition in them" before they start, adding they should observe the same precautions the law requires for hunters riding in automobiles.

Gordon said no action has been taken by Washington on the release of new ammunition supplies for the fall hunting season but added a meeting of War Production Board officials and federal advisory groups is scheduled for next week to discuss the question.

Pen Mar Park Now Restricted Area

Pen Mar park has passed into the realm of fond memory, magnetic memories that continue to attract summer visitors.

In spite of the fact that the Western Maryland razed the famous old Blue Ridge mountain resort the blues bordering the park area are open.

The majority of the large hotels and some smaller ones are open along with many private summer homes.

One of the largest of the hotels in the heart of the resort area will open this week and another hasn't been open for years.

The park area has been leveled and the area posted with signs giving the information that the land is under the jurisdiction of the United States government.

All amusements have been taken away except the bowling alley and pool room operated in conjunction with a novelty counter and refreshment stand that has been located at the park entrance for many years.

Peace and relaxation is all that just what some people want in this hustle-bustle era.

Many who have vacationed at Pen Mar for many years previous are spending a week or two in the mountain air, resting, relaxing by walking about in the peaceful woods.

This year Pen Mar's facilities are much in demand by those wives, relatives and friends of soldiers stationed at the nearby military reservation. Many of these have taken quarters for the summer.

Some hotel owners are hoping to make improvements to enable their remaining open at least a part of the winter.

VOLO SONG IS ILL WITH COLD

Cleveland, July 16 (AP)—Three-year-old trotters return to the stage today in North Randall's Grand Circuit racing—minus the company of the famed Hambletonian favorite, Volo Song.

The Volomite-sired speedster is recuperating from a cold and won't compete in the $6,800 championship stallion stake, feature of today's program.

Adios, last year's two-year-old pacing champion, dashed to a straight victory yesterday in the $2,280 stallion stake for pacers, turning mile heats in 2:01½ and 2:03.

Adios' time for the first mile was a new track record, and the best this season in the Grand Circuit, North Randall officials said.

Rupe Parker steered Adios home well ahead of second place King's Counsel, with Doc Marshall driving. Widow's Pride was third.

Longshot Tabb Hanover captured first money in the William Hughes pacing stake, taking a first, second and third and then coming home on top in a runoff. Most Dale, third place winner, won the second heat in 2:02½, fastest of the race.

Seven Up dashed home first twice and second once to win a 2:08 trot. Highly favored Highland Morning won the 2:14 trot in straight heats.

An Evening Thought

It matters not what you are thought to be, but what you are.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

REJECTED

When you think he ought to be on a vessel far at sea,
In a tropic fox hole damp,
Or an army training camp,
Just remember ere you speak
It may be his eyes are weak.
It may be he has applied,
Time and time and been denied,
For there's nothing given to show
Why he's not allowed to go.

Don't be hasty! It may be
There's a cause you cannot see.
Many a sickly youngster tries
To get by the doctors' wise;
Works required health to gain
To be taken, all in vain;
Would in uniform be proud
But his pleas are disallowed.
Don't say things that sting and smart;
That boy has a heavy heart.

Reasons doctors come to know
Unto strangers never show.
All the times a boy has been Begging service can't be seen.
Neither badge nor band displays
Why at home that youngster stays.
So, although your son has gone
And some lad still carries on,
Just remember, there may be
Some good cause you cannot see.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

ORIGINS

I have in my library a set of books, gotten out some years ago by an American publisher, concerning the origin of things—and a most interesting set of books it is. The origin of language, of paper, of electricity, of printing, of artistic designs—what a study, and how valuable such information!

Amiel, in his interesting Journal, has this to say: "The history of the formation of ideas is what frees the mind."

We see much of the future man or woman in the child. The origin of its growth and unfolding of mind is most fascinating. The story of a mere pencil is interesting. Small, yet how useful it has become—how universally possessed. The origin of the aeroplane undoubtedly came about from the study of the flight of birds.

There is a little glass frame in the great Radio City building in New York City that I often pause to note. In it are the fundamental principles of power illustrated—and each is simplicity itself. No matter how complicated a great machine finally becomes, its origin was very simple. Henry Ford's first beginnings started in a kitchen sink, where he studied the principle of the gas combustion engine.

The principles that embody a happy life are indeed very simple in themselves. Most of our unhappiness is derived from trying to make a complicated thing of life. The early Indian lived a very happy life with little—and many in our modern complicated scheme of living do the same.

Worry and too much speculation gets us off our regular, natural way. We lose our direction by facing too many branching roads at once. The straight and narrow path through life is the safest and most direct to one's most cherished objective. That is the road our forefathers took.

History is important and thrilling because it tells of origins. Many of them quite miraculous. They often fill us with wonder, as well as pride, and compel us to respect the work of the Creator. Nature teems with fascinating origins, each one a wonder story in itself.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Consciousness of Improvement."

Movement of an armored division and its equipment requires 75 railroad trains of from 22 to 45 cars each.

Wallace And Jones Stripped Of Broad Powers By President

FDR WILL FIRE OFFICIALS WHO FEUD IN PUBLIC

By TOM REEDY

Washington, July 16 (AP)—Sharply denouncing the row between Vice President Wallace and Commerce Secretary Jesse Jones, President Roosevelt stripped both of broad powers and served notice today that anyone else in his official family who feuds in public will be fired.

For almost three weeks, Mr. Roosevelt watched—as he said with surprise—Wallace and Jones slam each other in print over methods of stockpiling strategic war materials.

Last night, in about the same vein that he pronounced "a plague on both your houses" when rival labor unions were warring a few years ago, the President cracked down. In a sweeping order, he:

1—Abolished the Board of Economic Warfare (BEW), of which Wallace was the policy-making head.

2—Took away from Jones' Reconstruction finance Corporation (RFC), four major agencies dealing with foreign purchasing.

3—Established a new Office of Economic Warfare (OEOW) with Leo T. Crowley, 53-year-old alien property custodian, as the director.

"Get On With The War"
4—Told all administrative officials that any time they disagree with another agency and "feel you should submit it to the press, I ask that when you release the statement for publication, you send me a letter of resignation." Minor officials who violate this are to be dismissed by their superiors, promptly, the President added.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized he was not deciding who was right in the battle which flared into the open June 29 and grew hotter and hotter by the day.

The President, in letters to Wallace and Jones, said there wasn't time in the midst of war to find out "where the truth lies" in such matters. The important thing, he wrote, was to "clear the decks and get on with the war at once . . . a fresh start with new men, unencumbered by interagency dissension and bitterness."

Promises Cooperation
Both principals accepted the President's rebuke without argument. Wallace commented: "In wartime, no one should question the overall wisdom of the commander-in-chief."

Said Jones: "I concur most heartily in the President's determination to have harmony and cooperation . . . The (new) director will find the affairs of all RFC agencies engaged in foreign purchases in excellent condition . . . functioning with a maximum of efficiency and at a minimum of expense."

Jones pledged cooperation to Crowley whom he described as the best qualified man for the job.

Perkins' Post Doubtful
Crowley himself had nothing to say, except to accept the assignment. The reorganization shifts BEW's 4,000 employees to the new setup, along with RFC's U. S. Commercial Corporation, the Rubber Development Corporation, the Petroleum Reserve Corporation, Export-Import Bank, and lesser agencies dealing with foreign purchase financing.

The status of Milo Perkins, executive BEW director under Wallace, was not immediately clarified, though it was assumed he was shifted to Crowley's staff. Perkins, who was placed in administrative charge of the agency by Wallace, had joined in the fuss with public criticism of Jones.

Man Charged As Bogus Physician

Philadelphia, July 16 (AP)—A man who gave his name as Dr. Jose Blanco, 47, was held in $50,000 bail today for further hearing on a charge of practicing medicine without a license.

Detective Letcher Carruthers testified that Blanco fitted the description of a man wanted on 15 complaints registered by the American Medical association, but Blanco insisted he was a victim of "mistaken identity."

TOP LIQUOR SALES

Harrisburg, July 16 (AP)—Last year $107,060,000 worth of liquor was sold in state stores to give Pennsylvania top place among the 17 states which operate monopolies in sale of alcoholic beverages. Ohio placed second in sales volume with $61,359,000; Michigan was third with $49,370,000 and Virginia fourth with $29,817,000.

Milady's Nylon In Tires For Bombers

Wilmington, Del., July 16 (AP)—The nylon that doesn't go into milady's stockings any more is going into bomber tires in ever-increasing quantities.

E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Co., reported today that the first quantity shipment of tough nylon yarn, conured up out of "coal, air and water," will go out to tire and rubber companies this month.

The company said tests at the Army Air Forces' research and testing base at Wright Field, Ohio, have shown that nylon gave added strength to tires bearing the weight of increased bomb loads.

Bomber tires, the company said, must stand the strain of high speed landings in which, because of small fields at the front, brakes must be applied at once, causing the tread portion of the tire carcass to buckle and fold back on itself.

MARTIN WILL HELP FARMER BOOST CROPS

Harrisburg, July 16 (AP)—Forecasting possible shortages of beef, milk and wheat this fall and winter, Governor Martin today offered farmers the state's full resources to help overcome obstacles to increased food production.

"The 1943 crops have already been committed," he told his press conference. "We are laying plans for 1944—that's what concerns us now. Farmers have done a magnificent job although it hasn't been a good crop year."

Skimpy Supplies
The Chief Executive declared he was "very fearful" of skimpy supplies in some foods and added "this matter of providing food is serious."

He said "our big, active Army" requires provisions in quantities so tremendous as to cut civilians short.

Answering an inquiry, Martin asserted "lots of errors" have been made in Washington such as "placing ceilings that might be higher" but declared "I think they were honest errors."

Commenting on Auditor General F. Clair Ross' suggestion that state-owned roadbuilding machinery be loaned to farmers, Martin stated that if any calls were received the equipment would be made available and "if there are any regulations against renting or use of this machinery we will violate them to help the farmer."

Need More Spuds
In another food front development, Pennsylvanians were advised by Dr. A. H. Stewart, secretary of health, to step up potato consumption—skins and all. "Potatoes have much to contribute to health diets for everyone," he asserted, "and with production running high there is a surplus that should be used freely."

Miles Horst, secretary of Agriculture, reported the state was in the best position in its history to contribute to the wartime food supply with "what now appears to be the largest production of canned and processed tomatoes" ever reported. He said the 30,800-acre crop was making very satisfactory growth.

GUARD FREED IN FATALITY

Philadelphia, July 16 (AP)—James H. Brown, captain of guards at the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company's all-negro No. 4 yard at Chester, Pa., was free today of a voluntary manslaughter charge in the fatal shooting of an employee during a disorder at the yard last June 16.

A Navy court martial exonerated Brown, a member of the Coast Guard Temporary Reserve, yesterday after two days of testimony.

Brown said that he fired low and that he had fired two warning shots as Frank Giddings, 24, fled after striking him in the head with a brick. Four other employees were shot during the disorder which occurred as Brown led to the guard house an employee who lacked an identification badge.

MURDER IN TIN

By CARL A. PETERSON

Chapter 8

After leaving Fall, I could only think of Sam Taggard's daughter. Our facts about her were not too revealing. I was looking forward to meeting her. If she were a Gestapo agent, I wanted to know.

The Taggard tin was certainly a mess and Sam Taggard, alive or dead, was still in the center of it. If he were dead, our main job still had to continue. His discovery had to be rediscovered and the missing maps found.

The other alternative was to send tin-hunting expeditions into all the mountains of the Latin Americas. I thought of Lila Taggard again. She must have gotten my name from the desk clerk. And she had also found out when I was in my room and when I was out. And Mirtlo had called upon her during the siesta hour when people usually do not have visitors. It was then, only then, that she had called on me and asked me in English, not Spanish, where her father was. Strange actions. She suspected me of being a Government man and yet she had brought Mirtlo and myself together. Why?

When I finally reached the hotel the manager nodded at me from his desk. "I have a letter for you, Senator Calder." He passed me an envelope.

Flopping down into a chair, I slit the envelope open. I first looked at the signature—Taggard. I read: "Dear Mr. Calder,

I called on you to thank you for your assistance. I will get in touch with when I return. Yours truly,

Lila Taggard."

I hauled myself out of the chair and walked to the elevator, rode up, unlocked my door and entered my room. I stretched out on the bed to get some rest.

When I woke up my room was dark and somebody was knocking on the door. I went to the dresser and picked up the 38.

"Who's there?" I said. "Miss Taggard."

"One minute, please." I combed my hair back with my fingers, shoved the 38 into its holster under my left armpit. Then I slid into a loose sports jacket and opened the door.

"I'm sorry I was out when you called last night," I said.

She sat down. "I wanted to thank you for your assistance, Mr. Calder." "That wasn't anything," I said. Her lovely face was expressionless, I noticed.

It had to be a lovely face. A discovery as valuable as her father's would inevitably not only involve Gestapo intrigue and sabotage, but also at least one beautiful woman. I didn't trust this one at all. I was unmarried and unattached to anyone back in the States. Her presence in my room was disturbing.

"How about dinner, Miss Taggard?" I asked.

"I'd be happy to. I was a little worried about you last night."

"Worried?" "I wanted to thank you after you left my room but as I opened the door I saw you turning down the stairs. I had the notion you were after Senator Mirtlo."

"No, I had an appointment I'd almost forgotten about."

"That makes me feel much better."

"If it's not too personal, may I ask why?"

"It is personal."

Her brown eyes met mine and I remembered that the eyes of the murdered man were also brown; it was Sam Taggard, I was a bombshell in my reserves. Her looks and sex would be no deterrent if I felt that a blitz a la Gestapo could gain information.

We stepped out into the corridor and she said, "I'll get my hat and pocketbook. Won't be a minute."

In less than a minute she appeared, smiling, a tiny black hat perched on her hair.

"What do you do for a living, Miss Taggard?" I said at the elevator.

"Oh, nothing much. I have a place in Acapulco. I do water colors. I also copy some of the Salem, Ore. (AP)—Oregon state prison inmates were helping address ration books.

To Plan Post-War Civil Air Program

Harrisburg, July 16 (AP)—A cooperative program to develop aviation after hostilities end was agreed upon here at a conference of John M. Muddeman, of the New York state division of commerce, and Floyd Chalfant, Pennsylvania secretary of commerce.

After their session, Chalfant asserted: "We are confronted today with an attempt to deprive the states of their right to govern within their own borders. There is a movement underway to federalize control of intrastate as well as interstate civilian flying and to place all air rights under federal dictatorship. Only by presenting a united front can we protect the rights of the states."

2 SOLDIERS DIE AT INDIANTOWN
 Indiantown Gap, Pa., July 16 (AP) - The public relations office of the Indiantown Gap military post today disclosed the death of two soldiers in training there.
 Archibald B. Morris, warrant officer, junior grade, of Harrisburg, met death early today in a motorcycle accident near Suedburg, Pa., some distance from the post. Morris' widow lives at 211 North Second street, Harrisburg.
 A board of inquiry has been appointed to determine the circumstances surrounding the death of Private Wayne A. Crabtree, 24, of Alton, Ill., who was found dead of a gunshot wound on the combat training range on Wednesday.
 The public relations office said the soldier was with a detachment which went to the combat range to work out a problem and he was not missed until the soldiers returned to the barracks. A search disclosed his body in the woods with his gun nearby. His father, Odie M. Crabtree, R. 2, West Frankfort, Ill., was notified of the death.

WLB DRAFTS NEW POLICY

By JOSEPH A. LOFTUS
 Washington, July 16 (AP) - The War Labor board is preparing to enunciate a new policy under which John L. Lewis and other labor disputants will not have to sign a contract as evidence they intend to comply with board orders.

The test of compliance will be in the observance of the terms and conditions laid down by the board whether the parties put their names on a paper or not. This, said board members, is consonant with the recently-enacted War Labor Disputes act, which says nothing about signing a contract.

Several members disclosed their conclusions on this point as President Roosevelt gave notice that the government intends to return the coal mines to their owners, in line with the War Labor disputes act, regardless of Lewis' condition that the miners will work until October 31 only if Interior Secretary Ickes keeps custody of the mines.

Miners presently employed are working under the terms and conditions of a WLB decision, except that government custody has been substituted for private control. If private ownership is restored and the miners continue at work, the board will recognize this as full compliance.

2 LOSE GAS FOR SIX MONTHS; 1 FOR 2 MONTHS

Two Biglerville R. 1 men had their gasoline rations lifted for six month periods, a Table Rock resident had his rations suspended for two months, two men were found not to have violated the OPA gasoline regulations and two others were ordered to report for hearings by the Gettysburg rationing board gasoline panel Tuesday evening.

The hearings were held in one of the private offices of the board in the Hotel Eberhart with Senator George Kunkel, state chief enforcement attorney, interrogating the witnesses and with Luther B. Anthony, Harrisburg District office investigator, who had cited several of the men for non-essential driving giving testimony in his cases. Anthony was the investigator who had been in Gettysburg several times, usually early in the morning.

Gas rations of Robert L. Miller and Charles H. Crum, both of Biglerville R. 1, each charged with non-essential driving violations in center square, June 27 between 1 and 2 a. m., were suspended for six months.

2 to be Cited

Eugene W. Wolff, Table Rock, accused of driving at 65 miles an hour in Lemoyne, had his rations suspended for two months. Garland W. Baker, Gettysburg R. 1, and Mrs. Audrey Erlain, Cashtown, were both found not to have violated the regulations.

Clarence Fritz, manager of the Lee-Meads service station, and John C. Kunkle, Biglerville R. 2, who testified as to why Mrs. Erlain's car was being operated on the streets of Gettysburg June 27 were told they would be sent notices to appear for hearings as a result of their testimony.

All of the men whose rations were suspended were told they could appeal the decision of the Gettysburg board by stating their objections in writing within the next 15 days to the Gettysburg board. The board will then forward the objections to the district OPA office at Harrisburg for the appeal.

"Extra Mileage"

Miller was found to have had six jobs all of which called for the use of gasoline and had been given only one "C" ration book to drive to his work at Littlestown. Later he said he had gone to Camp Ritchie and other places to work, with the latest job being at Aspers. He told the board that when he was stopped early on the morning of June 27 that he had gone to an uncle's to get a part for a motor. The board found he had driven 1,400 miles with no supplemental gasoline rations after his "C" book expired June 12.

Senator Kunkel recommended to the board, at the conclusion of Miller's testimony, that his rations be suspended for a year. The board's decision cut that recommendation in half.

Charles H. Crum was found to have driven 2,500 miles since February 2 on an "A" card. He told the board he had purchased 80 gallons of gasoline "last year before peach-picking time," which he said was "before rationing began." He explained he had used the extra gasoline he had purchased as well as his "A" stickers in driving during the period up to the present time. He was stopped June 27 at 1:35 a. m. in Center Square. He told the board that he had come into Gettysburg to "pick up" a radio which he was having repaired. The radio was not finished when he arrived for it, he said. He agreed that he could have called by phone to determine if the radio was ready before making the trip and that it "was not essential to come in." He was given a six months suspension.

Denies Speed Charge

Eugene W. Wolff, Table Rock, said he works and boards in Middletown but was given a "C" book to come to his home over week-ends by the Middletown board. He was stopped in Lemoyne Sunday, June 27, at 2:30 a. m. and charged with reckless driving. A statement of the Lemoyne police was presented at the hearing Tuesday evening that he had been driving 65 miles an hour. He paid a fine of $10 and costs on the Lemoyne charge, he said.

Drop Two Charges

Charges against Garland W. Baker were dropped when Charles Reuben Bankert, Gettysburg, explained why Baker's car was seen by OPA officials parked in an amusement section of Baltimore. Bankert, a crane operator at a Baltimore shipyard explained he had been at his

COMPLICATED SPUD CEILINGS LISTED BY OPA

The Harrisburg District OPA office Thursday said ceiling prices on the new 1943 crop of early white flesh potatoes produced in Pennsylvania. Separate prices are established for the months of July, August and September.

Potatoes harvested and sold during the month of July have a base price of $2.80 per 100-pound bag of U. S. Grade No. 1. This is the country shipping point price for shippers or for growers who distribute and market their potatoes themselves.

Growers who grade, sack and haul their potatoes direct to the market and sell at retail in farmers' market houses or from door to door, are allowed the cost of transportation from the farm or warehouse to the place of sale. The allowance for cost of transportation is limited and shall not be in excess of that charged by a common carrier or contract hauler performing the same service. In addition to the allowance for cost of transportation, the grower is allowed a profit for selling at retail of $1.06 per 100 pounds.

Thus the retail selling price when potatoes are sold direct by the grower is arrived at by taking the base price of $2.80 plus transportation of approximately 20 cents plus the mark-up of $1.06 or a total of $4.06 per 100 pounds. The selling price for a 15-pound peck would be 61 cents.

Growers who grade and sack and haul their potatoes direct to the retailer and make deliveries to various retail stores from the same load, determine their selling price as outlined above except that the per bag mark-up is 66 cents instead of $1.06.

Growers who grade and sack their potatoes and sell them direct to wholesalers, retailers or consumers at the farm or warehouses, are limited to the base price of $2.80 per 100-pound sack. Buyers who pay in excess of this price, are equally guilty of violation of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 and subject to prosecution as well as the grower.

Because of an impending oversupply of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Long Island potatoes, it is possible that the retail ceiling price outlined above may not be reached during the harvesting and marketing of these early 1943 potatoes. The old law of "supply and demand" is still a factor to be reckoned with in the distribution of perishable agricultural commodities, an OPA spokesman stated.

County Salvage Meeting Monday

The Adams county Salvage committee will meet at the court house Monday evening at 8 o'clock, it has been announced by O. H. Benson, chairman.

Plans for reorganization of the committee, distribution of literature and posters and plans for increasing the amount of paper, rags, brown paper and hosiery collected are among the matters to be considered at the meeting, it was said.

RULING ON TEA

Designed to put some brands of tea back on grocers' shelves, the Office of Price Administration has fixed dollars-and-cents maximum prices to which the brands may be raised, it was announced today at the Harrisburg district office. The action was taken to help packers who are unable to obtain inexpensive growths of tea because of war conditions.

YOUNG FATHER IS MISSING IN PACIFIC ACTION

Pvt. Eugene William Shelleman, 23-year-old father, has been missing in action somewhere in the southwest Pacific since July 2, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Shelleman, of Hampton, from the War department.

No details of the action in which the young infantryman was engaged at the time of his disappearance were contained in the telegram received by his parents Monday, nor was it stated to what part of the Pacific theater he was assigned.

Pvt. Shelleman has been in the service since May, 1942, having been inducted by Adams county Draft Board No. 1, New Oxford. He was stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss., and Fort Ord, Calif., before going overseas about nine months ago. His parents last heard from him on June 19.

The young man was married to Miss Dorothy Kider on September 13, 1941. They have a one-year-old son, Eugene.

Pvt. Shelleman is a graduate of East Berlin high school. He was employed on a farm of Guy R. Godfellow, Hanover, before going into the service.

Pvt. Shelleman, who has three sisters and three brothers, is one of two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Shelleman in the service. His brother, Herbert, is stationed at Camp Howze, Tex.

FIX DATES FOR EXAMS TO TWO U. S. ACADEMIES

With vacancies to fill at both Annapolis and West Point in 1944, Congressman Chester H. Gross, of the Adams-York-Franklin district, has announced an open competitive examination to be conducted by Civil Service commission authorities on July 31.

In view of the War department's preparation of a special course of instruction, the examination of candidates interested in West Point will be held earlier this year, the Congressman said. Candidates for the Naval Academy will take the test on the same day.

The Commission will conduct a second examination on September 18th, but Congressman Gross suggested that candidates take the earlier test if possible. The examination will be conducted in York, but in the cases of boys who are out of the Congressional district for different reasons, arrangements can be made to accommodate them at other points if they will contact Congressman Gross.

"Already I have approximately 40 applicants interested in the academy appointments, but any interested boy can still compete in the examinations if he will make his wishes known," the Congressman said.

The Congressman called attention to the fact that the examination on July 31 will be a preliminary test given by the Civil Service Commission for the future designation of candidates to West Point and Annapolis—not for their admission. Subsequent tests after nomination by the Congressman will be given by the War and Navy department, respectively.

Candidates who have previously filed applications for the appointments and those who file before July 31 will be provided with full particulars concerning the tests.

ASK NAMES OF WAR PRISONERS

The Adams County Red Cross is asking all residents of the county who have received notification that relations of theirs have been taken prisoner by the enemy to inform the Gettysburg Red Cross office of that fact.

Those listed as "next of kin" officially are sent Prisoner of War bulletins by the National Red Cross. The bulletins are issued periodically and list new facilities for sending gifts to the prisoners and other information concerning the health and condition of the prisoners as found by the National Red Cross.

"Next of kin" are urged to give their names to the Red Cross office in Gettysburg as soon as possible so that the bulletins may be sent as they are published.

Turnpike-Maryland Link May Cross County In Big Post-War Highway Program

The probability that Gettysburg and Adams county may receive a share of the $268,000,000 post-war road construction program planned for Pennsylvania by the state Department of Highways loomed Wednesday in an announcement that plans include the construction of a 45-mile stretch connecting the Pennsylvania turnpike with the Maryland line.

The Gettysburg Times queried the Highway Department at Harrisburg Wednesday for information on the proposed route for the highway link but was told by C. H. Buckius, chief engineer, that no information is available now on exact routes to be followed by any of the proposed roads.

"The plans are only in preliminary stages and will require a great deal of work and study before details will be complete," he said. Asked if the Biglerville-Gettysburg-Littlestown route would not offer a logical route for the post-war stretch, Mr. Buckius said he could not say anything now about the course of the 45-mile link.

"Baby Turnpikes" The Associated Press dispatch describing general plans for the post-war road project quoted John U. Schroyer, secretary of highways, as saying that the new road program "will criss-cross the state with a network of baby turnpikes designed to meet the demands of future pleasure as well as business travel."

"Pennsylvania is a highly industrialized state and also a producer of much farm produce," declared John U. Schroyer, secretary of highways, "and the system of planned roads will open every county to the markets."

Not To Be Toll Roads "The modern highway network will also help promote Governor

Ride To Meeting On Hay Wagon

Nineteen members of the Rock Top club in Cashtown solved the transportation problem Tuesday evening when they wished to hold a meeting at the home of Miss Marie Andrew about two miles south of the borough by securing a hay-wagon and enjoying a hayride to and from the meeting.

The women ranged in age from 20 to 77, with the oldest member, Mrs. Isaac Mickle, reporting that it seemed like old times. Floyd Kuhn, son of Mrs. Charles Kuhn, one of the members, drove the wagon. The wagon and horse were owned by Charles Kuhn.

At Miss Andrew's home the members held a White Elephant auction, raising $15 for the club.

MAY LIFT RULES ON TIRES IN '44

The possibility that most if not all of the restriction on the use of rubber and tires may be removed sometime next year is expressed in a communication from W. M. Jeffers, rubber director, received by the local War Price and Rationing board.

The prediction of relaxed rubber regulations next year is made on the proviso that people now adhere strictly to the tire conservation regulations.

"We will be making synthetic rubber but there will be, inevitably, some delay in fabricating it into passenger car tires because of the shortage of facilities, equipment and manpower," Mr. Jeffers wrote. "We do not want to be forced to impose any new and more drastic regulations, and advice does not bring the necessary results to tide us over this period while we are scraping the bottom of the barrel for tires to keep essential cars in service."

"The people should not request new tires unless they are absolutely needed and all used tires should be kept in service until recapping is necessary, and then they should be replaced before asking to have them replaced with new tires. I am confident that, in possession of all facts, the American public will cooperate to achieve our goal of keeping essential cars rolling."

RECOMMENDS DIVORCE

The report of the master, Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., recommending the divorce on grounds of desertion was filed Friday at the court house in the divorce action of Sarah Catherine (Deshong) Keefer, Biglerville, versus Herbert Ephraim Keefer, McVeytown.

Martin's aim of attracting industry to the state."

Shroyer explained the 770 miles of new roads will be part of the free highway system and not toll roads as is the four-lane, easy-grade Pennsylvania turnpike which stretches 160 miles between Pittsburgh and Harrisburg.

"I'd call them baby turnpikes," the secretary added, "because they will accomplish the same purpose as the express highway—reduction of travel-time and perfection of safety measures." Shroyer said Governor Martin has approved a starting force of 25,000 workers "if and when necessary."

Proposed Roads

The program includes roads stretching from:

New Stanton, Westmoreland county, northwest to Vandeot, branching off to Dubois. Estimated length, 200 miles.

Harrisburg to Williamsport and Towanda. 180 miles.

Philadelphia to Easton, Scranton and Wilkes-Barre. 130 miles.

Philadelphia to New York. 35 miles in Pennsylvania.

The present Pennsylvania turnpike to the Maryland line. 45 miles. The turnpike from New Stanton to West Virginia. 80 miles. Philadelphia to Oil City. 100 miles.

May Free Bridges

Shroyer said those roads would be in addition to extensions of the present turnpike from Harrisburg to Philadelphia and from Pittsburgh to the Ohio line as well as improvements designed to speed traffic through Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

In another development, the secretary said continuing conferences with owners of 12 remaining toll bridges in Pennsylvania are delaying a final decision on their possible acquisition by the state.

OPA OUTLINES PROCEDURE FOR VACATION TRIP

Effective Thursday, motorists may apply through their local War Price and Rationing boards for authorization to make one vacation or summer resort trip, on specified dates, if a sufficient number of "A" coupons are available, and if no adequate alternative means of transportation are available.

It was pointed out today at the District OPA Office in Harrisburg that the personal appearance of the applicant before his local board is required for verification of facts about possession of coupons, destination, alternative means of transportation, dates of leaving and return, etc.

"In determining whether such travel should be permitted, the boards must decide each case on its own merits, using their judgment to obtain a reasonable answer," it was pointed out by David M. Klinedinst, chief rationing attorney.

"Such factors should be considered as availability of and accommodation on a train or bus to within a reasonable distance of the destination; the age and physical condition of persons; the amount and nature of baggage, etc. For example, a family moving an appreciable amount of baggage to a cottage for the summer may be eligible, even though the family itself might otherwise go by train; but a family going to a summer home with a limited amount of baggage might be required to use other transportation if available."

The applicant must certify on Form R-572 that he has sufficient gasoline purchased on basic "A" coupons in the fuel tank of vehicle or sufficient basic ration coupons to make the trip. The board, if satisfied that the applicant has sufficient gas or coupons will grant permission on this special form. Local boards will be required to make a notation on the applicant's basic ration books showing the number "572" (the number of the form) and the date of approval, to prevent duplicate issuance of permission forms.

REIGLE RESIGNS

H. Edgar Reigle, for 10 years a member of the Arendtsville Vocational high school faculty, has accepted an office position with the Knouse corporation at Peach Glen. In addition to classroom duties Mr. Reigle coached all athletics at the school from 1935 to 1937 and for the last four years was baseball coach.

SHORTAGE OF USED CARS IS REPORTED HERE

Less stringent gasoline rationing in the west and south is among the reasons why Adams county is finding itself with a shortage of used cars, a number of leading used car dealers said last Friday.

Because they are able to obtain the gasoline and have the money to pay the price, the west and middle west have caused an inflation in the used car prices which local buyers and dealers find almost impossible to meet, it was said.

One dealer said he had sold nine 1941 models in one day to a Pasadena, California, dealer who was passing through the east buying up all of the old cars he could find, and was willing to pay between $900 and $1,000 for the 1941 cars. The purchase was greater than the number usually sold in a year of that type of car by the dealer, he said.

Prices Cut Sales

As a result of the high prices on the cars one of the largest dealers in the county said today his stock of used cars on hand is "in very bad shape. I am not replacing, just coasting. If I am to make a profit on the cars I can buy I must charge from $950 to $1,000 a car and the people around here just won't pay those prices. They don't get the gasoline to begin with to obtain enough use out of their cars to justify paying that price. Only those who need cars badly in order to get to defense plants can buy them and because the prices are so far out of line with the true value of the cars, most exhaust every other method before buying an auto."

The dealer said he ordinarily had between 100 to 110 cars on hand but that his stock at present was down to 50 and may go down to 20 or 30 if the present prices are maintained. Most of the stock he has on hand now was purchased before prices started going sky-high during the last six weeks.

One dealer who has a garage in Adams county and another in Franklin county is considering closing the Franklin county garage if conditions continue as they are at present.

No Ceiling Prices

A dealer who usually purchased from 650 to 750 cars a year to keep his stock intact is expecting to purchase only between 250 and 350 cars this year. He bought only about five cars during the last two months because of inability to secure good used cars at a reasonable price at the various used car centers in this part of the country. He has been to all of the larger used car marts, he said, and has found prices "tremendously" high at all places. As a result, he said, he is merely liquidating his present stock.

No ceiling prices have been placed on used cars by the OPA, one dealer explained, because it was believed the ceilings would have driven some dealers out of business. However, the uncontrolled inflation of the used car prices has had the same effect, with a number of dealers saying they have already started "plugging" the service business at their garage at the expense of the used car department and are considering, if present conditions continue to exist, dropping their used car sales entirely.

SERVICE FLAG AT HOSPITAL

A service flag honoring the 11 county physicians and two Warner hospital nurses in the service has been hung in the lobby at the hospital. The silk flag, eight feet by three feet in size, was presented the hospital by the Adams County Medical society.

The banner has a white center surrounded by a red border. Centered in the flag is a large blue star with the numerals "13" below the star in blue.

The persons honored by the flag are Janice Harbaugh, now a Navy nurse; Miss Ruby Clapsaddle, Army nurse, and the following doctors, all of whom are serving in the Army: Roy W. Gifford, J. B. Goynne, J. J. Knox, William P. McKnight, Edgar A. Miller and J. P. Rhoads, all of Gettysburg; K. H. Benson, Abbottstown; Charles MacMinn, New Oxford; L. L. Potter, Littlestown; Robert Stoner, York Springs and W. G. Taggart, New Oxford.

Harold G. Stockroth, graduate of Gettysburg college in 1934, has been promoted to corporal at Westover Field, Massachusetts, Army Air Base, it was announced today.

Swindle Owners On Roof Repairs

Three middle-aged men in a green paneled truck were the object of a police search in Adams county today as swindlers who represent themselves as workmen of the "Acme Roofing company" at addresses given variously in York and Hanover.

The men charged three Littlestown housewives a total of $53 for about 45 minutes work on three house tops. The operations of the trio were not reported to Chief Roberts until early Tuesday evening after the men had left town.

They are believed to be the same outfit that swindled home owners in one section of Hanover about 10 days ago.

LINE BUILDING BEING PUSHED BY REA COOP.

Lifting of previous war-time restrictions has allowed construction of 87 miles of electric lines in Cumberland county and a number of miles in Adams county, Calvin A. Cluck, supervisor for the Adams Electric Cooperative, said Thursday.

The construction in Cumberland county began May 1 and will be completed within the next two weeks, he said. The construction consisted of the placing of line over poles already erected before such work was ordered stopped by the government last summer. Since that time, however, the War Production Board has allowed the completion of service to the 200 customers along the line. Previous construction had been done mostly by contracting firms, but the Cumberland county line is being completed by the regular crews of the local REA Cooperative.

Now 1,533 Customers

Eight farm extensions have been built in Adams and York counties, including work from dropping a line from a pole to a house to the construction of 5,000 feet of line. Such work can be completed under WPB regulations if the extensions are approved by the local county war boards, Mr. Cluck said. Besides the eight already built, 38 additional extensions have been approved by the Adams county war board and war boards in York and Cumberland counties. The extensions will serve 52 farms.

An application has been made to the War Production Board asking permission to build 120 miles of line in York county to serve 421 farms, it was stated. The Cooperative at the present time has 1,533 customers.

ASSISTANCE BD. OKAYS JOBS FOR AIDED PERSONS

Methods employed by the county assistance board to alleviate the labor shortage on the farms of the county were reported to the Adams County Board of Assistance at its regular meeting in its offices in Gettysburg, Thursday evening.

To combat the labor shortage the staff has been urging the old age pension recipients and children in "Aid to Dependent Children families" to take employment, Mrs. Verne Myers, director of the assistance board, told the group.

In May the State board of assistance established a new policy whereby by assistance recipients who are able and willing to accept farm employment are now allowed liberal and special incentives so that they can accept part-time farm employment and still receive assistance in only a partially reduced amount.

This plan has encouraged many recipients to take employment and in doing so meet their special needs without going off assistance, Mrs. Myers said. It is hoped, she added, that more may be encouraged to seek this employment with the knowledge "that a considerable amount of their earnings need not be applied against the assistance grant if such employment is reported promptly to the assistance office."

The director reported 65 less cases are receiving assistance since last year at this time, there being now 448 Old Age assistance, 74 pension for the blind, 97 aid to dependent children and 70 general assistance grants being issued.

Mrs. William Arch McClean presided at the meeting with board members Mrs. Maud Saby, J. H. Weaver and B. E. Benner attending. The next meeting of the board will be held August 12.

ARNOLD DENIES "FRAUD" CHARGE BY FORMER WIFE

Ralph E. Arnold, Washington, D. C., former C. H. Musselman company executive, has denied charges by his ex-wife, M. Luella Arnold, Biglerville, that he "defrauded" her by removing $30,000 from joint banking accounts, in a "defendant's answer to plaintiff's bill" filed here with the prothonotary by his attorneys, Edmund W. Wingerd and Buleit and Buleit, Esqs.

Mrs. Arnold has brought a bill of equity against her now divorced husband alleging he removed the money from their joint account after their separation July 15, 1941, and spent the money without her knowledge and consent. She asks an accounting of the money and her share of the amount.

In his answer, Mr. Arnold denies that he has failed to account to Mrs. Arnold for the money withdrawn from the banks, denies that he did not spend some of it for his ex-wife, denies that she had no knowledge as to the disposition of the money, and asserts that the two had reached a settlement in which the bank money remained his as his share of the settlement.

He claims that Mrs. Arnold had asked him for a divorce in 1941 and that "upon demands of plaintiff the defendant made a settlement of their properties and property rights including the monies mentioned in this bill."

In denying that she had been "defrauded," he alleges that "she received more than her share of the property."

Arnold claims that as of July 17, 1941, he was receiving $18,000 a year from the C. H. Musselman company as an officer and director and that on August 25, at the instigation of his wife, he was removed from his position.

He claims also that he and his wife held jointly war bonds with a maturity value of $10,000, and that he owned household goods in their home worth $4,700, owned a car worth $1,000 and had entered into an agreement with the C. H. Musselmans on stock in which the Musselmans owed him $2,500.

In the settlement, said to have been made before a Gettysburg attorney, Arnold claims he gave $7,000 worth of the bonds to Mrs. Arnold and was given the other $3,000 worth of bonds in settlement of the $2,500 Musselman debt. He also asserted he gave Mrs. Arnold the car and house furnishings owned by him.

At that time both knew of the money in the bank accounts and Mrs. Arnold made no claim on the assets in the settlement, Arnold asserts in the answer.

Mrs. Louella M. Arnold, Biglerville, was granted a divorce from Ralph E. Arnold, of Biglerville and Washington, D. C., in a brief district court action at Reno, Nevada, on July 6, according to The Associated Press.

Mrs. Arnold filed her suit on May 28, alleging extreme cruelty as grounds for the action. The couple was married June 27, 1931, in Fairfield. They have two children, Thomas Edward and Nancy Lou Arnold.

SALVAGE WORK AT GREENSTONE

School children near Greenstone have begun a new form of salvage work in an attempt to help tanners obtain a substitute for the usual wood bark that has been used for years for the tanning of hides and leathers.

O. H. Benson, county salvage committee chairman, said today that the school, taught by Mrs. L. D. Higgins, has inaugurated a project to collect sumac which is being used experimentally by a Williamsport tannery to find a substitute for the usual wood barks.

The school taught by Mrs. Higgins has also been active in other forms of salvage work. Mr. Benson reported, with the children collecting 250 pounds of scrap per pupil.

The entire Greenstone area, consisting of 250 people, has done an "outstanding and patriotic job of collecting salvage," Mr. Benson reports. The area has collected over 63 tons of scrap during the drive from March, 1942, to the present time.

Youngster Returns From City Hospital

John Kerrigan, 11-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Kerrigan, of Gettysburg, returned to his home last Thursday evening from the University of Pennsylvania hospital, Philadelphia, where he had been a patient since Tuesday.

The child was rushed to the hospital when it was learned he had swallowed a three-inch toy screw driver. The course of the object through his stomach and intestines was followed by X-ray pictures and an operation became unnecessary when the object was discharged naturally.

COUNCIL VOTES $3,000 FUND TO IMPROVE TIBER

By unanimous action at a special meeting Wednesday evening, members of the Gettysburg borough council voted to spend up to $3,000 immediately on the cleaning and repair of the Tiber watercourse through the town.

In the absence of Councilman Ray M. Hoffman, chairman of the finance committee, council's action was made subject to the approval of the finance group. That provision was regarded as little more than a formality for councilmen pointed out that a balance of $8,000 remains in the high-way fund and $2,500 in the sewer fund budgets. Councilmen indicated that the $3,000 expenditure may be divided between the two funds and still leave enough money to meet expenses for the remaining six months of the year in the respective departments.

Chiefly Machine Work
Council's action came after about six weeks of study and consideration that began at the June meeting with the appearance of a group of citizens who insisted that prompt steps be taken to insure that their properties are not flooded again as they were in a mid-May deluge.

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner told council that it will cost about $1,600 to improve 1,800 feet of the Tiber channel from the North Fourth street bridge west and south to the West Middle street crossing. That figure did not include the section from the alley east of Carlisle street to the North Washington street bridge, he said. The power shovel cannot reach that section and cleaning there will have to be done by tractor and scoop or by hand, it was decided. The hand labor project would cost about $500, he estimated.

Will Build, Repair Walls
Asked what cost would be involved in extending the work to West High street, Mr. Winebrenner said the distance was about 450 feet and the cost about 40 cents per foot.

The improvement program will include cleaning the channel, widening it at points where ground and stones have narrowed the stream, and the building and repair of retaining walls at many points.

Before the business session, members of council inspected work that was started on the Tiber between North Stratton and North Fourth streets with a power shovel about two weeks ago. The channel has been straightened and cleaned at a point where an S-curve in the stream had washed out a manhole in the town's sewer system. That work continued today with the shovel moving westward.

Tax Question For Court
Councilmen also inspected the new bridge and grade crossing on the West High street extension which will be completed this week. Later, at the business meeting they agreed to stone High street to its intersection with South Howard street and then improve that street to its intersection with West Middle street. The entire section will be stoned to a width of 30 feet.

E. V. Bullett, Esq., the borough solicitor, reported to council that he will file an answer to the court petition of Gettysburg college for an order to restrain the council and county commissioners from collecting taxes on the former Aughinbaugh property on Springs avenue, now college property. Mr. Bullett said he is insisting that the matter be submitted to the court for decision and has advised council and the commissioners not to waive their rights to taxes on the plot.

President H. M. Oyer presided at the meeting with Councilmen L. D. Shealer, Joseph D. Kendeheart, Harry J. Troxell, Wilbur J. Stallsmith and George D. March in attendance. Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer, Secretary Wilmer Drach, Solicitor Bullett, Treasurer John H. Baschore and Mr. Winebrenner also were present.

54 Counties Fail To Hit Bond Goal

Fifty-four counties in Pennsylvania failed to reach its quota of "E" bonds' purchases during the month of June, the Federal Reserve District informed Edmund W. Thomas, Adams county chairman.

Only thirteen counties in the state reached its quota during the past month, one of the lowest ratio figures since the inauguration of war bonds' sales.

Adams county was one of the fifty-four to miss its goal last month, but it has exceeded its quota on so many previous occasions as to offset any difference in June.

NURSES' AIDES TO FORM CORPS IN THIS AREA

The executive board of the Nurses' Aide committee of the Adams county chapter of the American Red Cross, at a meeting at Hotel Gettysburg Tuesday evening, appointed Mrs. S. J. Poppay director and instructor of nurses' aides and took the first step toward formation of a Nurses' Aide corps in the local chapter.

As they complete the prescribed training course, members of each class will be eligible for corps status. At the present time 18 women from Gettysburg and Adams county are qualified to become members of the corps. They will meet in the near future for the purpose of forming a permanent organization and electing officers.

Get Caps July 28
Mrs. Poppay has been serving as instructor of the third training class. Her appointment by the executive board of the committee, of which Mrs. Henry M. Scharf is chairman, as director and instructor gives her permanent status in the county organization.

The present class, which will complete the course of training in two weeks, will be capped on July 28, according to action taken by the executive board. This will be the day the training course is completed and will enable the members of the class to assist the blood donor unit which will be in Gettysburg on July 30.

Members of the executive board of the county Nurses' Aide committee in attendance at Tuesday's meeting include:

Miss Emily Allison, Miss Margaret McMillon, Mrs. H. S. Stuchell, Mrs. Leroy Winebrenner and Mrs. Scharf. Mrs. Poppay was present as an invited guest to receive the commendation of the board and designation as director and instructor.

Others in Corps

Members of the third Nurses' Aide class, to be capped on July 28, are: Miss Winifred Miller, Miss Dolores Smith, Miss Mary Catherine Berger, Miss Mary Catherine Moticka, Miss Ruth McIlhenny, Mrs. Howard Sheets, Mrs. G. Marion Stambaugh and Mrs. Ralph E. Barley.

Mrs. Barley was hostess to the class at her home in the Plank apartments Monday evening, at which time the group conducted a round table discussion of their work and consulted with their instructor and the chairman of the county committee.

In addition to the members of the third class, the following members of the first and second Nurses' Aide classes will comprise the Nurses' Aide corps:

Mrs. Raymond Bisbing, Mrs. Bernard Murray, Mrs. Ira Henderson, Mrs. Francis Mason and Miss Roseanna Marie Cromer, all of the first class to graduate; and the following members of the second class: Miss Dorothy Poth, Mrs. John W. Fry, Miss Virginia Hershey, Mrs. H. M. Krick, Mrs. Dorothy Riffle and Mrs. Hazel Bream Justin.

Mrs. Justin, now a resident of Bethlehem, will be transferred to the Nurses' Aide corps of that city.

home in Gettysburg over the weekend and had been refused admission to the bus when he attempted to return to his work because the bus was too crowded. He borrowed Baker's car, he said, and drove to Baltimore so he would not be late for work. The car was seen while he stopped at a restaurant in Baltimore to get something to eat before continuing on to his place of employment.

The charges were also dropped against Mrs. Erlain when her husband, Dr. A. B. Erlain, Cashtown, appeared before the board to state that neither he nor his wife were driving the car on June 6 when the car was stopped by OPA officials in center square at 1:20 a. m. He had turned the car over to Clarence Fritz, Lee-Meade Inn garage proprietor, for various repairs he said.

Used Erlain Car
Fritz testified that the car had been turned over to him for repairs and showed a bill listing the repairs that had been made. Fritz said John C. Kunkel had been working for him Saturday, June 26, and at 11:30 p. m., when he quit work, had no way to his home near Biglerville. Fritz said rather than take Kunkel home that night and then return for him the next morning to resume work at the service station, he told Kunkel to drive the Erlain car home and return with it the next morning.

The board told Fritz and Kunkel that they would receive notices to appear before the board for hearings on the matter.

COAL SLIP CHARGE

Forrest Curran, Shamokin, has been charged before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore, with delivering coal to Granville Grubb, Biglerville, without a proper weight slip. The information was laid by John E. Millhimes, inspector of weights and measures in Adams county. The violation allegedly occurred on June 28. Curran is to be given a hearing on Thursday afternoon.

With Our Service Men—

Radioman Hits Lethargy At Home; Sees Long War

PFC Donald O. Price who is now at aerial gunnery school at Laredo Army Air Field, Texas, is concerned over the apparent belief of many civilians that the war will be a short one and that the nation can "get by" without drastic rationing of nearly all commodities, according to a letter he has sent to The Gettysburg Times. The former county youth who is already an expert radio man and expects at the completion of his training at Laredo field to be assigned to a bomber crew as an aerial gunner and radio operator writes:

"This war is going to be a long one. It is unlikely to be ended in 1944. Only with the greatest amount of luck, plus the most skillful planning and the all-out backing of the people on the home front would that be possible.

"The headlines today look very pretty but I hope everybody takes the future drastic rationing as placidly as we, who are depending upon them, take our assignments. We know our jobs and are determined to execute them to the best of our ability so we can return to the places we love.

More Countians in Africa
"To be very blunt, this war will not be over in 1944, the way the people of this nation are backing the war. The people do not realize facts which do limit the physical progress of the war. If all the people do not get behind the war effort all of the time the war will drag out much longer than the average person realizes.

"And when Germany is destroyed Japan will not collapse soon after.

wards as a good many people believe. It will take time and time is on the side of Japan. The more time Japan has the more strongly she will be situated in her present bases."

To the population of North Africa has been added two more western Adams countians. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Gallagher of Cashtown, have learned of the safe arrival of their son, Corporal Technician William B. Gallagher, on the "dark continent" and Mrs. Ruth E. Dillon, Ottantanna R. 1, has also had word of the safe arrival in Africa of her son, Charles J. Dillon, who is serving with the merchant marines.

Going To New Post

Seaman Second Class William A. Beales writes from Area D-8, Platoon 3626, Camp Peary, Va., "thanks for the paper . . . I hope to read it for years to come," and then warns, "do not send it after now until you hear from me . . . we are moving, to where I do not know."

Pvt. Charles D. Heldbridge is another who writes "please stop the paper until you hear from me . . . because we are about to move to other quarters." . . . Sergeant Arthur S. Sheely, with HQ 30th QM, SD, APO 181-70, Postmaster, Los Angeles, writes to announce he has left the desert training center in California and to say that he "always enjoys reading the 'Times' and would hate to think of not being able to read about Adams county and the news of my pals who are in the service."

Pvt. Eugene B. Eckert is now at Room 107, Carolina Hotel, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

COUNTIANS ON FRUIT GROUP LOCAL DEFENSE STAFF 'ROUTED' BY 'GAS ATTACK'

Gettysburg's civilian defense control center proved last Wednesday night that it could be forced out of its regular room at the engine house because of the exigencies of war but that it could carry on from other quarters just as well.

Members of the control center staff had gathered at the center to stand by during a state-wide control center test in which three problems were being worked out on a state-wide scale and control centers throughout Pennsylvania were called in to render assistance to the three large centers where bombings were supposed to have taken place.

As the evening wore on without Lettysburg having been called upon to help, Defense Council Chairman LeRoy H. Winebrenner is reported to have said:

"I wish we had an incident so we would have something to do besides just sit around."

Chief of Police Glenn Guise, who was working with various police equipment, had been cleaning his tear gas gun and the temptation was too great. Releasing a small amount of the tear gas he walked out of the center.

Flee Headquarters

A few seconds later Burgess Fred G. Pfeffer, Chairman Winebrenner, Wilbur J. Stallsmith and C. C. Culp, all members of the staff, who had been standing, rapidly and tearfully vacated the room. George R. Larkin and George T. Raffensperger, two other members of the staff who had been seated, did not get the full effects until a moment or two later and then joined the remainder of the staff in precipitous flight.

The members of the staff, after recovering from the "incident," moved to another room in the engine house and carried on their patient waiting there. In the meantime they found amusement in watching other members of the staff who were late for the practice dash into the control center room and even more hurriedly dash out with tears in their eyes.

Fred P. Haehnlen, gas detection officer, was called in from the playground and pronounced the gas tear gas. His advice to the staff was "stay out of the room until things blow over."

R. C. Production Workers Get Rest

The production room of the county Red Cross, located in the Red Cross building on West High street, will be closed from July 19 to August 3, it was announced Thursday. Because production has been exceeding quotas for the last several weeks, Red Cross officials have decided to close the room for a short time "to allow the women of the town and county who have generously given of their time to help produce clothes and other articles for war sufferers and the men in the armed services a chance to enjoy a short vacation."

The surgical dressing production at the Legion home, however, will continue throughout the summer.

A puppy tied near a turkey pen on the farm of George Schachle, near Biglerville, broke loose several days ago and killed 586 of approximately 2,000 week-old turkeys. The puppy bit the turkeys during the night.

NEED 500 MORE CHERRY PICKERS FOR THIS WEEK

High school students were recruited in Cumberland and York counties Monday to help pick a 2,000-ton Adams county cherry crop, much of it destined to be canned for the armed forces.

Farm Agent M. T. Hartman, who said 500 pickers are needed to complete the picking job, now in its second week, reported danger of many of the cherries spoiling unless the harvest is finished quickly.

The Adams County Emergency Labor committee has arranged for buses to take pickers, most of them of school age, from Hanover and York, in York county, and Bolling Springs, in Cumberland county, to orchards in northwestern Adams county. Pickers enrolled last week in Adams county will be employed again.

Hartman said workers are receiving 22 cents for picking an eight-quart bucket of the fruit, a rate nearly double that of last year.

Picking went forward in a number of orchards Sunday with officials and office staffs of the C. H. Musselman company helping to garner cherries at the Blue Ribbon orchards of the Musselman company.

Some Orchards Finished

Orchardists agreed that in general the youngsters, who form a large percentage of the small army of pickers, are doing "a fine job." However, they cannot pick as rapidly as experienced adults, it was pointed out.

One bright spot in the cherry harvest picture today was the fact that picking has been finished in a number of smaller orchards, releasing groups of pickers for work in the bigger cherry blocks of the large orchards.

The fact that this year's cherry crop in the county is estimated at about 50 to 60 per cent of a normal crop does not reduce the number of trees to be covered by the pickers, it was pointed out. The higher pay helps compensate the workers for the "poor picking" they encounter in most orchards this season. Freezing reduced the crop this year, growers explain.

Rev. A. O. Frank and Rev. Mr. Livers, of Nebraska, are spending the time in the camp as observers.

Two Brothers In Marines; 1 In Navy

Adams county boys get around so much in the Army that it is news when two brothers get together. The two are PFC Bernard Cole, now a coach on the rifle range for the Marine Corps at Parris Island and Pvt. Donald Cole, who is also stationed at Parris Island. When the two feel their pride in the Marine Corps is too great they can consider the fact that another member of the Cole clan is in the Navy. Sterling E. Cole, with Unit C, Company 143, USNTS, Sampson, New York. All of the boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cole, of Gettysburg.

Seminary Graduate Gets College Post

The Rev. J. Paul Brenneman, pastor of the Maclay Street Church of God, Harrisburg, has been elected to the faculty of Findley college, Findley, Ohio, as professor of church history and worship in the Winebrenner Graduate School of Divinity and professor of philosophy in the undergraduate department. He received the degree of bachelor of divinity from the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary here in 1931.

Sheriff Wolff At State Convention

Sheriff and Mrs. Daniel J. Wolff attended the annual convention of sheriffs of Pennsylvania concluded Tuesday at Wilkes-Barre. Mr. and Mrs. Wolff left for the convention Sunday and returned Tuesday night.

In an address before the sheriffs Monday Governor Martin, according to The Associated Press, said that theirs is the responsibility "for peace and order in their counties regardless of measures taken by other agencies or institutions" and urged them to prevent riots or "disturbances of any kind that may slow down the growing pace of production for war." The sheriffs were electing officers for the coming year today.

SPOTTER POSTS RATED HIGHLY AFTER CHECKUP

Two Adams county spotter posts, at Gettysburg and New Oxford, received 100 per cent ratings from the ground observer section of the Aircraft Warning Service of the U. S. Air Force, it was learned Saturday.

The ratings were based upon flight checks, inspection and weekly reports during the month of June. An unknown number of planes were flown over this area by the air force to check the observation posts. Gettysburg and New Oxford both reported all of the planes and their flights correctly. Four inspections during the month also found everything in shape with spotters on posts and all equipment at the posts in proper shape, according to Lawrence M. Sheads, area supervisor.

Model Post

Gettysburg's spotter post is being used as a model for posts throughout the Harrisburg area. Mr. Sheads said he had learned in meeting with officials of the AWS.

Members of the spotter posts throughout the country will have an opportunity to earn an emblem for continuous service of at least one two-hour trick a week for three consecutive months, Mr. Sheads disclosed. The emblem is in the form of small gold wings with a white enamel center bearing the letters "AWS," for Aircraft Warning Service. Swung underneath the wings is a scroll with the word Observer in gold letters on a blue background.

A number of observers in the Adams county posts have already qualified for the wings and will probably receive them in the near future as soon as the wings are ready for distribution, he said.

QUARTER'S BOND PURCHASES ARE TOLD: $14,775

"E" bond sales during the fourth quarter of the month of June in Adams county totaled $14,775. It was announced last Friday by Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman of the war bond and stamp committee.

A lag in bond purchases in this county during the latter half of June is in line with a shading off of buying volume elsewhere, Mr. Thomas said, and reflects "very definitely the arrival of the date for the payment of the second installment of 1942 income taxes and the approach of the effective date of the 20 per cent withholding tax."

Red Cross Council Studies Army Needs

Needs for the various Army camps to be supplied by the Carlisle Council of the Camp and Hospital committee of the Red Cross were discussed Wednesday at a meeting in Carlisle.

The Carlisle council includes 14 county committees from as far north as Sunbury and as far south as Frederick, Maryland. Nearly all chapters were represented in the discussion of the need for more furniture, reading lamps, chairs, ashtrays, card tables, books, games and the like by various camps.

Representing Adams county at the meeting were Dr. and Mrs. J. Walter Coleman, Mrs. Samuel H. Reed and Mrs. LeRoy H. Winebrenner.

TOUR BATTLEFIELD

Forty service men from the Carlisle Army Post and Dickinson college were guests of the Carlisle USO on a tour of the Gettysburg Battlefield Sunday. The trip was made by chartered bus and was the fourth such excursion arranged this summer by the USO.

LIONS TOLD OF LABOR NEEDS OF COUNTY FARMS

War prisoners, soldiers, high school, college and seminary students and townfolk who are willing to work part time in the county's farms and orchards are possible sources for the labor necessary to harvest thousands of tons of field and orchard produce in Adams county this season, Herbert W. Miller, county Emergency Farm Labor assistant, told members of the Gettysburg Lions club in a talk at the service unit's weekly dinner meeting, Monday evening.

Orchardists are coming through the cherry harvest season this week but hands to gather produce from hundreds of acres of beans and tomatoes and from thousands of peach and apple trees remain to be found, the speaker stated, pointing out that in the peach and apple orchards school age workers cannot replace adults.

Explains Labor Plan

Several hundred farmers and orchardists already have filed requests with the Emergency Farm Labor office on Baltimore street for help with cases that range in number in individual cases from one to 600. Chief causes of the labor shortage in the agricultural field here are the drain of regular help into the armed forces and into higher paid war industries in the cities, Miller said.

He described the current organization for handling the farm labor problem, explaining that it was set up late this spring by act of Congress with county agents in direct charge in each county unit. Aiding the county agent here are an eight-member labor committee—Mr. Miller, an office secretary and 18 volunteer leaders throughout the county that help enroll workers. Wages and transportation are worked out between the employers and the workers, it was pointed out.

Mr. Miller said buses carry school age workers from York, Hanover, Bolling Springs and lower county towns into the orchard belt to help with the cherry harvest.

Announce Committees

During the business session that preceded the talk, auditors presented a report on the club's financial accounts for the last year. The statement showed the Lions spent $128.33 in community-connected activities, including aiding with buying glasses for needy persons and contributing to numerous community appeals. A meeting was followed by a brief session of the board of directors.

These committees to serve the club during the year which opened this month were announced as follows by the new president, Hugh C. McIlhenny:

Finance: M. P. Martzell, C. A. Cluck, J. Herbert Weikert and Elmer H. Schriver.

Attendance: Glenn L. Bream, Ralph Z. Oyer, and James Shenk.

Membership and extension: J. M. Bender, C. J. Waybright and Robert Smith.

Program and music: D. E. Hess, Robert A. Bream, J. M. Bender and L. C. Keefeauver.

Postpone Bomb School Sessions

The bomb reconnaissance school originally scheduled for July 21 has been postponed it has been announced by the county defense council.

The school will be held at the court house at 8 p. m. on July 22 with representatives from each of the community defense councils present. The men trained at the school will become bomb reconnaissance officers in their own locality.

A control center exercise set for July 21 will take up the same problem as was listed for the center exercise

American Leaguers Win All-Star Classic, 5 To 3; Didn't Need Yanks

DOERR STARTS FIREWORKS IN SECOND FRAME

BY SID FEDER
Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—Like a guy who doesn't need money cause he has a million dollars in a bank, the American League really has proved it doesn't need the Yankees—as long as it can do a bombier trick with a bat.

This, naturally, is the home-run a reasonable facsimile thereof—Yankee specialty from 'way back. And while Manager Joe McCarthy didn't use a single member of his member brigade in knocking off the national Leaguers 5 to 3 last night in the 11th edition of the All-Star tugging party, the way it happened made you look quick to be sure it wasn't a Yankee putting on the rasher.

But this time it was Robert Pershing Doerr, the Los Angeles Lulu who has been playing a lot of infield for the Boston Red Sox, that has more or less been the second base shadow cast by the Yankees' Joe Gordon for several seasons. Well, Joe the Flash was just the American League Bench Jockey last night, and the Nationals went out in front with a run in the first inning and were just bouncing along behind Mort Cooper.

Cooper Walked Two
Then, in the second, before you or the 31,938 cash customers knew what was cooking, the roof fell in, and it was the old Yankee story dressed up in a Red Sox suit.

Mort's fireball lost its control for just a couple of minutes and he walked Chet Jaabs, the St. Louis Browns' nimble fly-chaser, and Jake Early, Washington's work horse catcher.

Then up stepped Robert Pershing. Mort slid a curve ball off the finger he'd blistered a few hours before, apparently showing how not to light a cigarette. Bobby aimed it at the left field stands, and it just barely gasped its way into the lower seats. A yard shorter, and it would have been only a fly out.

A Pair of Doubles
That was your ball game, and for all the rest of the game meant to the final result, the boys might just as well have gone to the movies for the rest of the evening. The Americans simply aimed by their eighth win in the 11 All-Star games, which are rapidly turning into plain old-fashioned nightmares to the Nationals.

In the third chapter, a pair of pounding doubles produced another run. And if that didn't settle the issue it might be pointed out that the only guy among the 20 National Leaguers in the game who looked as if he would just as soon have a bat as a Tommy-gun in a tight spot was Vince DiMaggio of the Pittsburgh Pirates who got into the game in the third inning and promptly poked a single into left. In the seventh, he tripled and came home on Dixie Walker's pinch fly. And in the ninth, he hit what was easily the hardest ball of the night. A wallop that landed well into the upper stands in left field.

Now, all the time there were five Yankees on the bench—and they stayed there, because, as Manager McCarthy put it, "we got out in front quick, and we didn't need 'em."

Johnny Vander Meer, the old double-no-hit kid of the Cincinnati Reds, was called on to take over for Cooper in the third with one run in, one on and one out, and he proceeded to fan Rudy York and Laabs to end that inning. From there, he fanned four more in the next two frames and wound up with a total of 11 strikeouts for his two All-Star elbowing appearances, thereby equalling Carl Hubbell's record of mowing 'em down in these mid-summer specials.

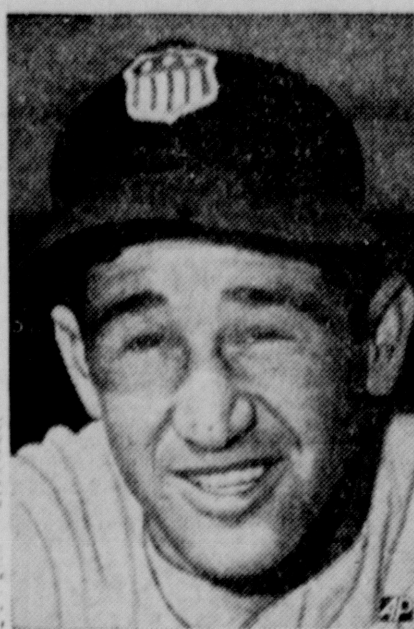

And there was Cooper, himself, whose fireball has blind-folded and handcuffed the National League batters for the last few years, but who is strictly a fraternity brother to American League hitters. Last night marked his fourth straight setback at the hands of the junior circuit swatters—two in All-Star appearances and two in last fall's World Series.

It was a convincing American League victory, even to the older members of the National League cheering and chowder society, who had only one real turn to howl. This was in the first inning, after the boys got over their surprise at McCarthy's selection of Dutch Leonard, the old Washington knuckleballer, to start serving 'em up for the American Leaguers. Those two All-Star old-timers, Chicago's Stan Hack and Brooklyn's Billy Herman, started it off with consecutive singles. Stan Musial then hoisted a fly to center and the National's had a run.

Ripped Through Nats
But Dutch got the idea right then and showed why Marse Joe picked him because of a knuckleball like nobody in the National League has. Except for an error by Vern Stephens with two away in the second, he ripped through the Nationals for the next two frames without even missing his hair.

STOP ADVANCE GAS TO B AND C MOTORISTS

Regulations governing the issuance of renewals of "B" and "C" gasoline ration stamps in advance of the expiration date of current rations, were outlined today by the Harrisburg District OPA office.

No applications for additional rations can be granted in any case prior to the renewal date, except in the following cases: (1) where the applicant can show that due to a change in occupation or in the location of the place of business or residence additional rations are necessary; (2) a person who requires greater amount of occupational mileage due to seasonal variations; (3) where there has been a miscalculation of mileage needs, and (4) where a person who has preferred mileage can certify that the vehicle for which a ration was granted, cannot be operated for 15 miles or more on a gallon of gasoline.

Hold Renewals
When the renewal is issued in advance of the current ration, it could be a temporary restoration of the one-sixth unit in the current value of "B" and "C" coupons, an OPA spokesman points out. To avoid this possibility War Price and Rationing Boards are instructed not to distribute renewals until 24 hours previous to the expiration date of the current ration.

Ration Boards have also been instructed to be on the lookout for evidence of abuse of a ration. An OPA directive to the boards states: "If we are to do a good rationing job in saving as much gasoline as possible, under no conditions may we grant additional rations to individuals who have been guilty of abuse of rations. We must be firm and stand on the regulations."

STORES AGAIN OFFER BUTTER

Butter was back in the stores in fair quantities again after a week during which many of the town's stores were completely devoid of the product.

A few of the larger stores reported having butter throughout the week while some of the stores, which had not been able to secure the dairy product for the last week had secured a limited supply.

Some of the smaller stores, after a butterless week, were selling by the half and quarter pound in order to stretch out a small supply they had received for the week-end.

PAIR FINED

Lawrence Duncan, Gettysburg, was sentenced to 10 days in jail in default of a $10 fine and costs and John Colten, also of Gettysburg, paid a fine of $5 on charges of disorderly conduct brought last Thursday evening before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore by Borough Officer Lloyd E. Wisler. The two were apprehended by the officer on West Middle street.

the fourth and sixth, when Musial led off with a double, but he pulled himself out, and Tex Hughson, the tall Red Sox slinger, finished up without too much headaches except for Vince DiMaggio's triple and homer.

Couldn't Bunch 'Em
Meanwhile, although Boston's Al Javery came along to fan the side in the 7th only Vander Meer was an elegant elbow for the Nationals, despite the fact he was touched by the Americans' final run in the fifth on a walk, Stephens' single and Billy Herman's low throw to the plate on what looked like a double steal, but wasn't. George Case, the Washington whirlaway, carried this tally home.

But when you come right down to it, Manager Billy the Kid Southworth had the right answer.

"We just didn't get those long ones—and we didn't get 'em in bunches," he said.

SIDELIGHTS ON ALL-STAR TILT TUESDAY NIGHT

By HENRY LITTLEHALES
Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—Scattering stardust from the baseball constellations:

"Got to honor the name of DiMaggio."

Said the brother of Dominic and Joe

As he shouldered a willow bat.

"Got to pick up a hit or two;

"Got the whole family's job to do;

"Can't let 'em down—that's that."

So Vincent, the OTHER DiMaggio,

Banged out a single and then let go

With a mighty three-base crack.

Finding the pastime much to his pleasure,

He walloped a homer—just for good measure—

In the domain of Connie Mack.

"Got to honor the name of DiMaggio."

Said the brother of Dominic and Joe.

Vince, the Pagliacci of the Pittsburgh Pirates, certainly kept the DiMaggio clan in baseball's spotlight at Shike park last night, even though his resounding blows failed to save the National League's galaxy of stars from their eighth defeat by the "junior" circuit.

The Bustin' Buc's 3-for-3 job is the second perfect score for the San Francisco trio. Dominic, now in the armed forces, collected a single in his only all-star batting chance. Joe, also militarily occupied at present, chalked up six hits, including a homer and a double, in 29 attempts for a 297 stick mark.

Reduced to simple arithmetic, that's a fancy .303 average for the threesome in all-star jousts.

Also brightly twinkling among the defeated stars was Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds, whose blazing fast ball whizzed by the American leaguers for six strikeouts. This neat bit of handwork gave No-Hit Johnny an all-star aggregate of 11 whiffs in 8 2/3 innings, equalling the mark previously set by King Carl Hubbell (in 9 2/3 frames). Vandy also engineered a rapid double play on an attempted sacrifice, and thus accounted for all the outs during his tenure on the hill.

Not down for posterity, please, another all-star record: Seven putouts for Outfielder Chet Laabs of the St. Louis Browns.

The decisive three-run homer from the bat of Bobby Doerr was the first all-star safety for the Red Sox second sacker, after three futile trips to the plate in 1941.

Bob Johnson, who patrolled left field briefly for the victors, hit four straight pitches into the stands. This outburst of long-range blasting took place, however, in batting practice.

NEW PLAY LOT FOR NORTH END

Because the community playground near the high school building is not easily accessible to youngsters of the north end of town, the Student Christian Association of Gettysburg college is sponsoring and will open a new playground at the corner of College avenue and West Lincoln avenue, Donald R. Heiges, SCA secretary, said today.

The Theta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, owners of the lot, have loaned the land for playground purposes and SCA members already have moved and cleaned the ground. Several swings are in place and other equipment soon will be installed with the formal opening set for sometime next week.

There will be a big sand box and swings for the kiddies and volley and soft ball courts for older youngsters. Movable equipment will be in place only on designated hours when supervisors are on duty, it was explained.

Detailed plans for the opening of the play area will be announced soon.

NEXT DANCE BY USO ON JULY 24

Plans for the next USO dance to be held July 24 and a report on the June dance presented for the soldiers at the 55th college training detachment at Gettysburg college and the Naval students at Mt. St. Mary's were considered at the July session of the county USO group, Monday evening, at the Hotel Gettysburg.

The Gettysburg unit of the National Council of Catholic Women will be in charge of the USO dance this month, it was stated.

Dean W. E. Tilberg presided at the session with Mrs. Robert Fortenbaugh; Mrs. F. E. Griest, Flora Dale; Mrs. Grover Myers, Gardner; Mrs. Frederick Tilberg, Gettysburg R. D.; Mrs. Steele Stuchell, York Springs, and Donald Heiges, Gettysburg, attending.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, July 13 (AP)—The National and American leagues to the contrary notwithstanding, the real all-star team is due to play today at San Francisco, not Philadelphia.

Col. Russ Newland gives us this list of service stars who will oppose the Oakland-San Francisco squad in a benefit game: The starting battery will be Charley (Red) Ruffing and Harry (The Horse) Danning. Joe Hatten (Dodgers) and Ruggar Ardizola (Yankees) also will be on hand to pitch. For infielders there are Chuck Stevens (Browns), Lieut. Charley Gehring (Tigers), Cookie Lavagetto (Dodgers), Dario Lodigiani (White Sox) and Nanny Fernandez (Braves). Outfielders include Max West (Braves), Wally Jundich (Browns), Joe Marty (Phillies) and Myril Hoag (Yankees). . . . What, no Joe DiMaggio?

QUICK QUERY

The Dodgers are holding tryouts at Ebbets field this week for four or five hundred ambitious kids. . . . Wonder if they expect to find a successor to Durocher?

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Alabama may be the next big name added to the "no football" list. The tide is all tied up by lack of non-Army material; not enough 17-year-olds to form a team. . . . It required intervention by League Proxy Ford Frick to persuade Ernie Lombardi's draft board to advance Schnozz's screen test to yesterday so he could play in the all-star game, Jimmy Frain, who trained (ha ha) Tony Galento, didn't have much luck with his marine heavyweight, Ed Hoevever, but he claims to have a coast guardman at Cape May, New Jersey, who'll really show the fans something when he's ready.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Bill McKee, Ashland, Ohio, Times-Gazette: "William Schroeder, Wooster college freshman coach, is teaching communications to pre-flight naval cadets there. That ought to be the head coach's job at any school because he's the fellow experienced at it. The course ought to be taught by somebody like Carl Snavely of Cornell, who was acclaimed by Ohio State as the finest communications officer in football."

HEADLINE HEADLINER

When Don MacGregor, star of the Iowa State prison eleven, said he hoped to join the Pittsburgh pro footballers after his release, the Chicago Daily News headline scribbled: "Here's Something! Burglar wants to become a Steeler."

SERVICE DEPT.

Welterweight Champ Freddie (Red) Cochrane writes that he's growing a mustache to pass the time at his south Pacific post. . . . and won't his manager, Willie (The Beard) Gilzenberg be jealous? . . . Nat Fleischner's listing of boxers in the armed forces reveals that Minnesota and Wisconsin have sent the greatest numbers of star pro and amateur glove slingers into the fighting zones. . . . Tech. Sgt. Frankie Strafal, who has been in Australia so long that he signs his letters "Digger," reported that he recently traveled 3,200 miles to one of the larger Australian cities for six days of golf. Frankie says he believes the club members were so nice to him because of the impression Paul Ruyon, Jimmie Thompson and Craig Wood made a half dozen years ago. . . . "That was one trip that paid dividends," adds Frank.

Philadelphia, July 14 (AP)—"When you have two men on and someone hits a home run, the damage is done," remarked Billy Southworth, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals and the National League All-Stars.

. . . And that just about sums up last night's game in which the National leaguers took their customary shellacking from the American leaguers. . . . Things looked quite rosy for the senior circuit until Mort Cooper walked a couple of guys in the second and along came Bobby (The Swinging) Doerr and boom. . . . Then the ball game was practically over. . . . But just to show you what optimists these baseball players are, the losers came into the dressing room talking about how hard Bill Herman hit a liner in the ninth and what might have happened if it had been a few feet higher.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE

More from Southworth, "This isn't like a world series. Seems like we ought to have a few more games. I'm just getting warmed up." . . . And, discussing his decision to yank Mort Cooper off the hill before his three-inning stint: "I'm glad it was one of my own men. I felt more free to take him out." . . . Joe McCarthy, who wasn't especially jubilant about getting square with Southworth for what happened last fall in the world series: "Don't bother me. I've got to dress and catch a train."

The blister on Mort Cooper's finger, which came from a mis-guided match, provided a lot of pre-game conversation but Mort tried his best to keep from using it as an alibi. . . . It bothered his control a little, he said, and that was the only real trouble with his pitching. . . . The accident recalled what happened to Johnny Beazley here last year, when his pitching hand was cut in an encounter with a would-be porter in the station. . . . But Southworth didn't get his wish that Cooper would do as well as Beazley did the next time out.

SHIBE PARK SHIVAREE

Before last night's game someone automatically asked: "Who's pitching for the Yankees?" . . . But there wasn't a Yankee in the ball game for the first time in all-star history. . . . It looked strange to see Bill Dickey out there catching while Al Schacht was putting on his impersonations of famous pitchers. He usually has a more important job. . . . Maybe the Yanks weren't needed this year—or maybe their absence reflects the closeness of the American league race. . . . Remember a few years ago when the National league was having a tight one there was quite a fuss about whether pitchers should be saved for the big game or saved for the tilts that really count. . . . Last year's all-star game at the Polo grounds was barely finished before a blackout. . . . Last night the blackout—for the National league—came in the second inning. . . . Just goes to show you they really can speed things up.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Al Del Greco, Hackensack, New Jersey, Bergen Record: "I wonder if umps have nightmares and see the wide open mouths of Frank Frisch and Leo Durocher before their eyes. . . . Those umps, over a season, see more tonsils than doctors."

CLEANING THE CUFF

The ball players don't get any pay for the all-star games, but they get into the park free and get two extra tickets thrown in. . . . For the first time non-workers were admitted to the press box. . . . There weren't enough scribes to fill the 300-odd seats, the rest were sold to bring in a few more bucks for the baseball equipment fund. . . . The manpower shortage was reflected in the feminine umps and in a trio of boys about 16 who smoothed the base paths before the game—but most of all in the lineups.

New York, July 14 (AP)—Babe Ruth came back from his Boston Charity baseball appearance, nursing a bruised shin bone where a foul ball hit, but elated over shooting a 69 in golf for the first time.

It happened last week at North Hills, he told his close friend Jack Schafer. He went around in a three-under-par 34-35, in spite of three-putting the 16th.

Chicago, July 14 (AP)—The addition of Iowa's Bob Penabuna and Michigan State's Jack Fenton to the college all-star squad brought the roster up to 26 players today. Penabuna, a guard is the 14th lineman and Fenton, a halfback, is the 12th back to be selected for the team which will meet the Washington Redskins, National football league champions, August 25, in Dyche stadium, Evanston.

Chicago, July 14 (AP)—Elizabeth (Betty) Hicks, former national women's golf champion, was ordered to report today to be sworn in as a member of the Spars, Coast Guard auxiliary. She will represent that unit of the armed forces in the All-American tournament at Tam O'Shanter Country club next week.

Sigler Gets New 30-Day Sentence

Earl Sigler, Breckenridge jail today, remained in the county jail today, serving another 30-day sentence for disorderly conduct in default of a $10 fine levied against him Wednesday evening by Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore.

Sigler completed a 30-day sentence on disorderly conduct Tuesday at 9 a. m. and was arrested again Tuesday evening together with his wife, Mrs. Margaret Sigler, on disorderly conduct charges by Borough Officer C. William Zhea, after the two got into a fight, according to Officer Zhea, at their home.

Wednesday evening both Mr. and Mrs. Sigler were fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty to the charges. Both were committed in default of the fines but Mrs. Sigler later Wednesday evening paid her fine while her husband up to 1 o'clock today was unable to secure the amount of the fine. Sigler was out of jail 12 hours before his re-arrest.

RECOMMENDS DIVORCE

The report of the master, William L. Meals, Esq., recommending a decree was filed Thursday at the court house in the divorce action of Mae Crum Slaybaugh, Aspers, versus Arthur Leroy Slaybaugh, Ardentville and Delaware City, Delaware. Indignities to person are charged.

SPORT SHORTS

Aberdeen Proving Ground, July 13 (AP)—Maybe the Aberdeen bombers, this military post's service team, could do themselves some good in major league baseball.

They licked the Phillies, who are in fifth place in the National league, 3-2 in an exhibition game last night, with Bob Froeses scattering six hits through the first seven innings and Don Dpyker holding the Philadelphiaans hitless for the rest of the game.

Philadelphia, July 13 (AP)—Add bad news for the Phillies:

St. Johnson, veteran righthand pitcher, leaves at the call of his draft board after the New York Giant's game here Thursday night.

Thirty-seven years old, married but childless, Johnson—who came from Rochester of the International league in 1939—reports for induction at Marseilles, Illinois, July 19.

New Orleans, July 13 (AP)—Little Jackie Callura of Ontario, Canada, puts his National Boxing association World's Featherweight title at stake in a 15-round decision bout here August 16 to prove that his third-round knockout by Phil Terranova of the Bronx, New York, three weeks ago was all a big mistake.

Promoter Hyp Guinle said that he had closed with Callura's manager, Leo Bradley, to send the Canadian-Italian against Terranova in a championship match for a guarantee of $10,000 with the privilege of 50 per cent of the gate.

Chicago, July 15 (AP)—Eddie Smith, known last year to Chicago White Sox fans as "hard-luck Edgar" because of numerous games he lost by one run, may come to be known as "last-chance Smith" to his ribbing teammates. Smitty has been restored to good graces by Manager Jimmy Dykes after his suspension from lackadaisical training and will join the Sox on their next eastern trip Sunday night.

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 15 (AP)—A sign on Doubleday field, where the Chicago White Sox and the Brooklyn Dodgers play the annual Shrine game July 19, says: "Horse and people this way; no cars allowed."

For emphasis, a $10 prize will be awarded the driver of the horse-drawn vehicle bringing the most persons from outside the village limits.

CHERRIES ARE PLENTIFUL; NO ROASTIN' EARS

Sour cherries were plentiful last Saturday at Farmers' Market and in brisk demand at 25 cents a quart box while sweet corn, expected to make its appearance, was still absent from the stands. Farmers looked forward for the first corn to appear probably next Saturday.

Dry weather was blamed by one farmer for holding up the sweet corn crop to a later date than in previous years.

Raspberries were plentiful and in fair demand at 25 and 30 cents a quart box. New apples were for sale as low as eight cents a box, but the supply seemed low and the apples not of best quality. A few boxes of better quality apples were on sale up to 15 cents a quart box.

Plums made a brief appearance at 15 cents a pint, with the few on sale selling early. There was a good supply of cabbage at eight cents a pound and tomatoes were fairly plentiful at 25 cents a quart box or 20 cents a pound. Some cucumbers were for sale at 20 cents a box and cucumbers were for sale at one stand at varying prices starting with small ones at 15 cents a dozen and ranging up to the largest cucumbers at 8 cents each, two for 15 cents.

Potatoes on Sale

Chicken prices ranged from 43 to 58 cents a pound dressed, with a few old chickens selling at 43 cents a pound and young fryers and young heavies at 58 cents a pound. Chickens a year and a half old for roasting sold at 55 cents a pound with other roasters bringing 50 cents a pound.

Red beans were five cents a bunch and string beans brought 10 and 15 cents a box. A few Kentucky Wonder string beans brought 20 cents a quart box. Eggs ranged from 38 to 43 cents a dozen and butter was for sale in a very small amount at 50 cents a pound.

New potatoes were selling generally at 15 cents a quart or 25 cents a quarter peck.

RECOVER STOLEN RODS

Fishing rods and tackle worth $40 were stolen from the cottage of Frank and Harry Mumper along Marsh creek near Red Rock by thieves who cut through a screen to enter the building, according to state police here who investigated and located the missing property in a creek near Gettysburg. Two local juveniles have been questioned in connection with the theft. The rods were taken between July 5 and 10.

'Mr. Johnson Regrets'

St. Johnson (above), leading Phillies' pitcher, rejected his assignment as batting practice pitcher in the All-Star baseball game in a formal note to Ford Frick, National League president. The note read: "Mr. St. Johnson regrets that he will be unable to attend your hunting and throwing party on July 13." The game is scheduled in Philadelphia tonight.

H. S. GRADUATE WINS NATIONAL AWARD OF ELKS

Miss Mary Catherine McMillon, Gettysburg, graduate of Gettysburg high school in June, who won the Gettysburg high school alumni scholarship prize and the state scholarship prize in Adams county, was awarded her third scholarship prize Friday.

Announcement was received this morning that Miss McMillon had won the third prize of $400 in the Elks National Foundation Scholarship contest. Selection was made at the Elks national convention in Boston. The title of the scholarship contest was "Most Valuable Student Award." Miss McMillon had previously won first prize in the Pennsylvania contest.

In winning third prize Miss McMillon presented the following:

Contest Requirements
A 300-word letter on why she deserves the prize; a letter from her guardian; three letters from non-relatives; her school standing; letters from an official of each school she attended; 12 issues of the Ma-ron and White, high school paper, of which she was editor; article from The Gettysburg Times announcing her selection as pianist at the Presbyterian Bible school, a photograph of herself and membership cards of her school organizations.

These were all combined in book form, titled "Seek and Ye Shall Find," headed and concluded with poems of her own composition, a sketch of the Elks emblem, title pages and bound.

Miss McMillon plans to enter Shippensburg State Teachers' college next fall.

COLLEGE ASKS TAX INJUNCTION

Gettysburg college has filed a bill in equity with the county prothonotary asking that the borough of Gettysburg and Adams county be enjoined perpetually "from collecting taxes on the former Aughbaugh property, Springs Ave., Gettysburg as long as the property is owned by the college and is used for purposes of said plaintiff to carry on its educational work in accordance with the purpose of its organization."

The bill, filed by the college's attorneys, Swope, Brown and Swope, Esqs., points out that the college "is endowed and maintained by public and private charity and is engaged in educating youth in learned languages, art, sciences and useful literature and admits all students to its privileges, immunities, and advantages, irrespective of the students' sentiments in matters of religion."

The college stated that the property was turned over to it by the will of Lillie K. Aughbaugh, late of Gettysburg, and during the last year was used as a dormitory for female students at the school, a "use necessary to carry on educational work." However the property was assessed and taxed by the county and town, the paper stated.

The Gettysburg school board freed the property of school taxes at its meeting last week.

MANAGER IN ARMY

Joseph Wittle, near Harrisburg, has been appointed manager of Greencastle A & P store to succeed L. Duncan Moore, who left Wednesday for induction into the U. S. Navy. Moore has been in charge of the store since it was opened 15 years ago. His wife, the former Miss Alice Higbee, Emmitsburg, will continue her residence in Greencastle.

ZIVIC GETS NOD OVER LAMOTTA IN 10 ROUNDS

Pittsburgh, July 13 (AP)—He's 30 years old and his legs aren't the tireless legs they were when he wore the welterweight crown, but Fritz Zivic is still in there fighting and he isn't far from the top of the class.

He proved it last night in ten rounds of superb boxing with 20-year-old joltin' Jake Lamotta, the only man to beat Ray "Sugar" Robinson, though the Brooklyn boy came back hard enough in the last five rounds to win the backing of one judge.

"It was a tougher fight than the first one," admitted Zivic, who lost a split decision to Lamotta in the same Forbes Field ring last June 10, "but I feel sure I was ahead all the time."

Just Folks

WAR-TIME HONEYMOON

Some day in the peace to be,
Looking back through memory
To their children she may say:
"We had just a wedding day,
Thirty hours, and he was gone
To the war then raging on!""Freedom then was far from sure,
Church and school seemed insecure.
All the world was red with strife.
Sacrifice was part of life,
So for honeymooning glad
Thirty hours were all we had."In the peace all hearts desire
When they sit about the fire
And recall these troubled years,
Dark with "sweat and blood and tears,"
To their children they may say:
"We had just our wedding day!""So that you might dance and sing,
Near the church and school bells ring.
Have the starry flag above
And be free to come to love,
After thirty hours were spent,
Back to war your father went."

"VOICE OF WISDOM"

Time was my patient father used to look at me and say
To my always gentle mother:
"Will such frenzy pass away?
Must we suffer this forever? Will he always be so wise?
If he lives, will he continue all our judgments to despise?
Is it possible our offspring can be wiser than a sage?
Think you every dotting parent meets this 'voice of wisdom' age?"In a tone akin to sadness, which I little understood,
Of he said he'd like to choke me,
and at times I thought he would.
"Just be patient," whispered mother.
'Tis a phase that quickly goes.
Every growing youngster always wants to show how much he knows.Every father has to suffer being counseled by his lad.
That's a portion of the payment which he makes to be a dad.
Then I grew to be a father, and it wasn't very long
Till my youngster started telling what is right and what is wrong.And it seemed that there was little in this world he didn't know.
If we ventured an opinion, he would let his wisdom flow,
And I used to think, "I'll choke him!" But I answered him instead:
"It is time the 'voice of wisdom' should be starting off to bed."When that youngster you're so fond of gets the notion he is smart
And begins to voice his wisdom, just be patient, don't lose heart!
Though you're tempted so to choke him, turn to memory's looking glass.See yourself that way, old fellow, and remember, this will pass.
Just remember when he's sneering at some foolish thing you do,
You're alive because your father suffered patiently with you!

SUMMER

How futile seems the wintry blast
Of last December now,
With springtime's bud and blossom past,
And fruit upon the bough!Time was those branches, ermine clad,
Were ghastly things and cold,
But now they seem like children glad Whose arms have much to hold.Ere long where peach and apple cling
Will eager boys be found
To climb and shake and try to fling
The young fruit to the ground.That winter was not meant to stay,
Is very certain now,
But summer seemed so far away
When snow was on the bough.

Flashes Of Life

LATEST VERSION

Schenectady, N. Y. — Nathan Goldfine gave police a new excuse for driving 70 miles an hour. "When I drive along at 35, I'm likely to fall asleep," he explained. Wide awake, he paid a $25 fine.

Pullman, Wash. (AP) — His higher learning, got Washington State college educator W. R. Hatch his summer job at the Osborne Swales farm.

Hatch is the farm translator. Swales couldn't cope with the Spanish of his Mexican hired hands.

MEMORY COURSE

San Francisco (AP) — Lief Croch, 64, a shipfitter, sprinkled poison on a piece of bread and left it on his table, hoping to kill a mouse that had been raiding the larder.

Next morning he absent-mindedly picked up the bread and began munching—then he remembered.

Police sped him to the hospital where he quickly recovered. The mouse raids on . . .

DOWNPOUR

Brookings, Ore. (AP) — An airplane averted a serious water shortage in this remote coastal community.

The city pump had broken down; the Army brought a new one from Portland, dropping it by chute.

HE ASKED FOR IT

New York (AP) — High living has cost Rags his happy home.

Rags, a two-year-old Nubian goat at the Bronx zoo, spurned the usual tin can diet and took to chewing, on a rayon dress, which happened to be on a portly matron feeding a lamb in an enclosure opposite Rags' bailiwick.

Officials blushed, apologized to the woman—and banished Rags from the zoo.

BLACK DAYS AHEAD

Passaic, N. J. (AP) — The future for coal users here with cellar bins inaccessible to delivery trucks looks as black as the coal they may yet be shoveling.

A spokesman for Passaic coal dealers, hit by the manpower shortage, asked the board of commissioners to revise a city ordinance to permit dumping of coal on sidewalks in front of homes and buildings. Consumers would have to get the fuel into their bins themselves.

WHAT-NEXT DEPT.

Seattle, Wash. (AP) — A prowler or prowlers broke out a rear window of a hotel, shoved a packed trunk inside and fled.

MEAT, TOO!

Ketchum, Idaho (AP) — A deer ran headon into S. D. Burks' automobile, breaking its neck and dying instantly.

The Forest Service wouldn't let Burks keep the deer, because it was out of season. And his automobile repair bill was $30, he said.

He got a whole group with one bucket, last night.

CONSIDERATION

Topeka, Kas. (AP) — Ed Nellis, member of the county rationing board, explains why the board refused to allow an 82-year-old woman to buy a rationed bicycle.

"She wanted it to travel, to sell her book 'My 39 Years of Hardships in Kansas.' We thought riding a bicycle at her age would make the fortieth year the hardest."

SUCCESS

Denver (AP) — With an eye to saving rationed shoes, Stanley Field groped in his basement for an old pair he'd discarded.

He's saving all his shoes now; physicians ordered him to remain away from work several days.

Wasps had built a nest in the old shoe he tried to put on.

FREE

Portland, Ore. (AP) — Wayne Rainbolt, coming from Myrtle Point, Oregon, to get a war job, failed because he's only 12 years old.

Determined to help the war effort a bit anyhow, he set up a shoe shine stand, giving shines exclusively to servicemen—and without charge.

So far, though, he hasn't had a customer would take one free. He's averaged $3 a day.

ASKS CHURCHES TO LIST DONORS OF BLOOD FOR R.C.

A campaign to have every church in Adams county arrange for its members to give a pint of blood to the Red Cross for every star in its service flag was underway today under the supervision of Radford H. Lippy, chairman of the Blood Donor Service committee of the local chapter of the Red Cross.

"With our men in the armed forces doing so much, it is fitting that we on the home front should back them to the utmost," Mr. Lippy states in a letter to the pastors of the 57 churches in the county. "You no doubt by this time have in your church a service flag with quite a few stars. What better service could we give our fighting men than to back up each man you have sent from your church with at least one new blood donor for the American Red Cross? Their blood will be made into plasma to save the lives of the ones who are giving their all for us."

Greater Need for Plasma

"Blood plasma is one of the few things needed in this war which money cannot buy; only from individuals willing to give their blood can this be secured. As you already know, blood can be taken painlessly from the individuals at the Blood Donor center and up to this time many thousands of persons have made one or more contributions."

"We are proud that Gettysburg has become a blood bank center and to date has contributed over 600 pints of blood. With invasions started in Europe and the large scale battles in the Pacific, there will be more need than ever for this life-saving blood plasma."

"May we count on your church to help along this work by registering at least one new donor (one who has not already been registered by the Red Cross) for each man or woman your church has sent to the service of their country? We would like to have these names sent us by July 30 in order that they may be called in August."

Canteen Groups Assist
Many churches throughout the county have already started such a program, Mr. Lippy said, with the Episcopal church heads having previously started a campaign to have all of the Episcopal churches secure donors.

The next blood donor day here will be July 30 when more than 100 donors are expected to give blood at Christ Lutheran church where the apparatus for removing blood will be set up by trained doctors and nurses from the Harrisburg Blood Donor center.

A committee from the AME Zion church will be in charge of the kitchen for the July 30 bank while a committee from the United Brethren church will handle the dining room, Mrs. Rasmus S. Saby, chairman of the canteen committee, has announced.

OLD SIDEWALK IS REMOVED

One of Gettysburg's oldest landmarks—the brick walk in front of Christ Lutheran church—is yielding to the wheels of progress.

Since 1836, a year after the church was established, a brick walk has lain in the front of the church, although the present brick walk removed Monday to be replaced by concrete was laid in 1902.

When workmen removed the bricks from the walk they found many of them had been worn down nearly two inches by the footsteps of the thousands who have passed before the Chambersburg street church during the last 40 years.

Because the bricks had started to sink and turn up, the church council decided to replace the walk with a 10-foot strip of concrete running the 90-foot length of the walk. The old brick walk will remain in place for the time being around the trees in front of the edifice because church officials were fearful concrete would cut off too much moisture from the trees.

The original brick walk, laid in 1836, plus a fence and pipe cost the church $255. The bricks that replaced the original walk in 1902 were put down at a cost of $99.05, records of the church show.

Plane Radioman Returns To Duty

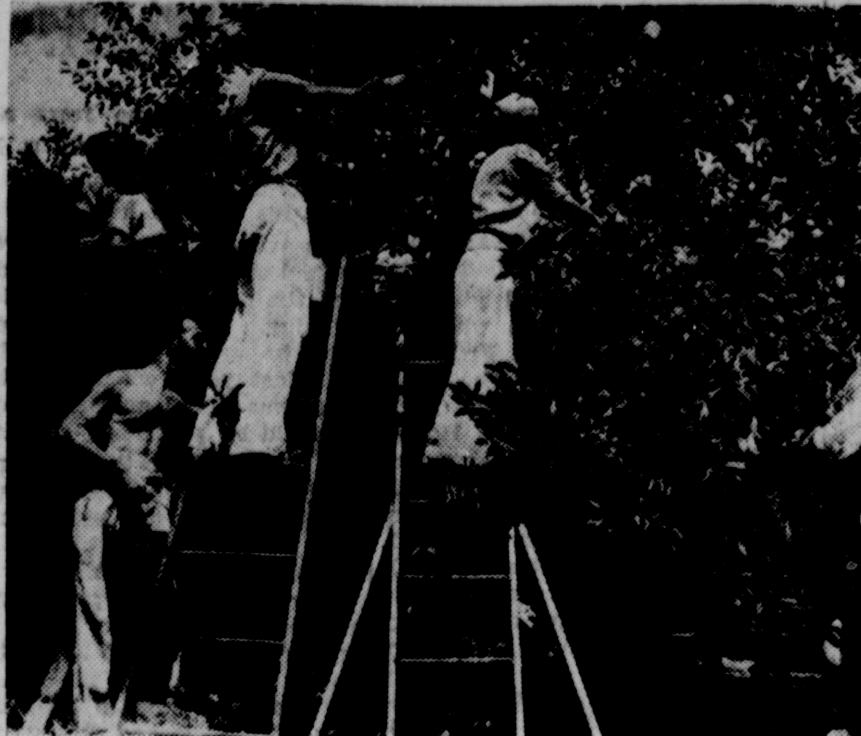

Staff Sergeant Eugene Elgin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Elgin, East Berlin, left Tuesday for Dalhart, Texas, after spending an eight-day furlough with his parents.

Sergeant Elgin is first radioman aboard a Flying Fortress. He has been in service for eleven months. He has served at the following bases: St. Petersburg, Florida; Chicago Radio School; Tyndall Field, Florida; Salt Lake City, Utah; Blythe, California and Texas.

BACK IN U. S. A.

Egt. William B. Griffin, formerly of Gettysburg, has been sent to Camp Bowie, Texas, after serving for 18 months in the Pacific war theater. He is attached to the 248th Eng. Bn., Co. A.

Musselman Staff Picks Cherries

Knowing that something must be done about the problem of manpower to pick the cherries, the office employees and executives of the C. H. Musselman company in Biglerville spent Saturday and Sunday in the company's Blue Ribbon orchards helping to harvest the cherry crop. Pictured engaged in picking are J. P. Hollaugh, treasurer of the Musselman company; Charlotte Otto, of the time study department; Willis Beidler, chief chemist; George Hogue, statistician; Miss Roberta Bittiger, receptionist; John Lawver, invoice clerk, and Robert Burkhardt, timekeeper.

Of course, all the office employees did not work on one tree as the picture suggests, the photographer explained, but he got as many as possible together on the one tree to obtain a better picture. While willing to pose, the officials kept right on picking and by the time the picture-taking was finished the tree had been nearly denuded of cherries.

16 Years A U. S. Diplomat, Countian Saw Germans On March; Was Held In Berlin

George F. Kennan, East Berlin R. 2, lives at his home about a mile west of East Berlin only incidentally, during brief vacations between his duties as a member of the United States Foreign service, in such places as Russia, Berlin, Austria, most of the central and eastern European countries and, currently, in Portugal.

The East Berlin resident has been on the scene in Europe for 16 years, has seen World War II develop from the days when men still believed that the first World War had brought to an end the days of aggression.

A tall, 6 foot two or three diplomat whose slender build and slightly receding hair make him the picture of a typical diplomat, he weighs his words carefully and makes it plain before he speaks that what he says is not the official attitude of the State Department, but merely what G. F. Kennan, observer of Europe for 16 years and just returned from 10 months in Portugal, has come to believe as a result of his findings in the places he has visited.

Interned Five Months

He was in Russia "when Russia saw the war coming on but hoped against hope that it would not affect Russia." That was in 1937. He was in Prague the day Hitler marched in to begin his conquest of Czechoslovakia. He was in Berlin when Japan attacked Pearl Harbor and the United States declared war on all the Axis powers. He spent five months interned by the Germans with other diplomats and American newspapermen after we declared war until American and German diplomats were exchanged.

Since then he has been as close to the Axis front as possible, in the international listening post at Lisbon, Portugal to which he will return with his family shortly to resume his duties as counselor to the United States legation there.

America Will Decide

In an interview Saturday with a reporter of The Gettysburg Times he declared: "After the war is over we should look at the problem of Germany unemotionally and dispassionately and try to determine what treatment must be employed to make the Germans 'Good Neighbors.'"

"The people of Germany are 'bothered' by their brutality and sometimes worry about it, he believes. They say to themselves, 'America is not brutal' and find themselves uneasy because of their own brutality. If we are brutal in our treatment of them, however, they will find justification for their own brutality, he asserted. However, he warned we must be stern and determined in our treatment of Germany and we must carry out to the fullest extent any steps we may decide to take to disarm and possibly dismember Germany."

In this, particularly, he made clear that he was not talking for the State Department but only from his own judgment. Pointing out that the State Department reflects only the views established by the policy making powers of the government, he went on to say that whatever America decides will be the policy that is carried out.

Well Disciplined Army

"Germany is possibly the only nation in the world where all of the neighborhood bullies got together in one organization and are now ruling the country," he said. The "fiends," as he termed them, of the Gestapo, S.S., and Nazi party are divided into two classes, the American diplomat said, the older men who are merely bullies and the younger men who have been trained to be fanatics.

Because of the frightful things the German civilian authorities, such as the Gestapo, S.S. groups and the like, have done, "I can never forgive the German army for turning over the occupied countries, without a qualm, to the civilians."

"The German army is one of the best disciplined organizations on the face of the earth, for two good reasons, an army needs discipline, and the soldiers were not allowed to loot—because the German state wanted to secure everything possible in occupied countries for itself."

"Morale Is Poor"
"Germany's morale is poor, but it is the same morale as that of a chain gang—the chain gang works whether its morale is good or bad and no one cares if it is poor."

He told of starting in diplomatic service after education in his home state of Wisconsin, then starting the round of posts that has taken him to 13 different positions in Europe in the last 16 years.

When the war broke out between us and Germany the German officials called on the U. S. Embassy. They were "very polite but very firm." Important papers had been burned and everything was in readiness to move when the Germans arrived.

"Definitely A Prison"
The American embassy staff and a number of American newspapermen were taken to a hotel to be interned until diplomatic exchange could be made. The hotel was very comfortable, Mr. Kennan said, but it was definitely a prison for the men there. The confinement became more and more wearing as time passed. The men were never allowed outside alone, with armed guards present at all exits to make sure there would be no attempt to escape. The only exercise consisted of a walk into the country several times a week, surrounded by soldiers of the Third Reich.

The soldiers were "very correct but guarded us very strictly," Mr. Kennan asserted.

But despite the comforts of the hotel—the food was "very poor." The Americans received one and a half times the regular ration prescribed for the German people—and lost an average 15 pounds during the five-month period.

"The Germans are capable of eating lots more of certain types of food than we are," he pointed out. "Boiled turnips, cabbage and potatoes, and only the slightest amount of meat and butter was the regular bill of fare."

"The Germans are able to eat great quantities of those foods—but we found ourselves incapable of continuing on the diet of eating much of the food offered."

Seek To Eject "Fired" Manager

A summons in ejectment, on which a hearing will be held July 19, at regular court, means an answer is filed in the meantime has been issued on George A. Shinham, ex-manager of the Elevator Orchards, ordering him to vacate the premises at the Elevation farm near Fairfield.

The writ was filed Friday evening at the prothonotary's office by Harvey P. and Ruth B. Jones and Ernestine Plummer, owners of Elevation Orchards, by their attorneys, Keith, Bigham and Markley, Esqs., and Roy Martin Boyd, Esq., against Shinham, his wife, Buelah M. Shinham, and children, Owen, Leslie and Vernie Shinham.

In a previous action Jones had demanded an accounting of the funds for the orchard and alleged he had fired Shinham as manager of the orchard but that Shinham had refused to leave the premises.

FIRE COMPANY BAZAAR "BEST IN 20 YEARS"

The Gettysburg Fire company's annual "bazaar and festival" income this year was the greatest since the 1920's, President James B. Aumen announced Wednesday evening after Donald C. Stallsmith, chairman of the committee, reported income at $1,676.60, and a profit of $1,569.52, with several additional contributions yet to be received.

Highest praise was given to the solicitors for the "bazaar" which was not held this year because of war conditions, but which was replaced by having the solicitors ask each person in the community to contribute in cash what he would have given in foodstuffs if the bazaar had been held.

About $400 of the money was immediately earmarked for new equipment for the company, with the firemen voting to purchase 400 feet of single jacket hose guaranteed to stand a pressure of 400 pounds and costing 92 cents a foot. The hose is the best that can be obtained, firemen reported, and will replace old hose which has become useless with age and wear. Every attempt has been made to obtain double-jacketed hose, which had been standard with the company, but due to the war none is available, the firemen said.

Aid Salvage Drives
The new hose will arrive in about four months, Chief Aumen stated, with that time needed to obtain priorities for the equipment. The new hose is in addition to several hundred feet of hose purchased some months ago and expected to arrive in the near future.

The firemen were urged to do their best to make the salvage campaign in town outstanding during the next three months. All money derived from the sale of the salvage materials collected from town drives until October 1 will be turned over to the firemen by the town Salvage committee, Vernon B. Corle said.

Among the salvage activities planned by the firemen is completion of the collection of enough tin cans to make a carload. About eight of the 16 tons necessary are already on hand.

Two New Members
Because of handling arrangements at processing plants where the tin cans will be shipped only a full carload can be sent out of the county at any one time.

Five hundred feet of hose was reported "out of service" due to inability of the firemen to obtain expansion rings. Another attempt will be made to secure the rings.

President Aumen reported that the campaign to raise funds for the marker on center square honoring Adams county's sons and daughters in the armed services was progressing "very well." In addition to the $50 given by the Gettysburg company, contributions ranging from $10 to $25 have been received from several county fire companies including Bendersville, Barlow, Aspers, Cashtown and other communities. Gilbert McKenrick, Hanover street, and Amos Starry, North Stratton street, were accepted as members to replace men called into the service.

Eject New Assistant Chief
Vernon Corle was elected assistant fire chief to fill the office made vacant by the call of Donald G. Jacobs to the armed forces. The election of Mr. Corle was for the unexpired term. The company voted to give Mr. Jacobs a leave of absence for the duration of his service and to re-instate him as assistant chief upon his return to Gettysburg.

A six months' leave of absence was granted H. L. Bender who left Gettysburg to take employment with one of the companies building the pipeline from Texas to Pennsylvania. Another period of instruction for men wishing to become drivers of the fire company trucks will be held this evening starting at 6:30 o'clock, it was announced. A plea for more men to take the instruction was made.

Selectee Says War Will End In Three Months

"The war will be over in three months or sooner," one of the 22 Adams county men who reported for duty with the United States Army on Thursday informed the crowd waiting to see the men off in front of the draft board office on center square.

Asked how he could be so sure, the youngster yelled, "Because I never have held a job for more than three months in my life."

The 22 men who left at 10 o'clock this morning by bus for the New Cumberland Induction center were in charge of Acting Corporal Richard Eckert, Springs avenue. The men were those from the July call of the Gettysburg draft board who were accepted for Army service following physical examinations two weeks ago. They were then inducted into the Army and given furloughs to wind up their civilian affairs.

A similar group of 43 men will leave Friday from New Oxford, representing the Army selection from the July call furnished by the New Oxford Selective Service board.

Continue Bridge Inspection Work

Three more county bridges have been inspected by the Adams county commissioners during the last two days as part of their survey of all of the bridges in the county.

A wooden covered bridge, about 40 feet in length, in the lower part of Straban township was found to be in poor condition following inspection this morning and the commissioners ordered several planks in the flooring replaced and fill placed at the ends of the bridge.

Wednesday the commissioners inspected two 40-foot steel bridges with wooden flooring northeast of Hunterstown in Straban township. Both bridges, which are about two miles apart, were found in perfect condition.

NEW OPA EGG CEILINGS ARE ANNOUNCED

Adams county's egg price has been set at 42 cents per dozen, Martin Hoffman, manager of the Adams County Egg Cooperative, announced Thursday on receipt of word on the new OPA ceilings from New York.

The price was effective Monday. The local cooperative did not quote egg prices since Monday after learning that new prices were about to be put into effect. The last prices quoted here were white, 43½; browns, 40½ cents a dozen, on Saturday.

The new price makes no differentiation between the white and brown eggs. This is due to the increased demand for eggs, Mr. Hoffman said, as many people have been using eggs in place of meat in their daily menus.

Prices Will Rise
The price of eggs will increase one cent a week until January 1, or until another change is made by the OPA, Mr. Hoffman pointed out. In that manner as eggs become scarcer the natural increase in price will be met under the OPA ruling. Under the regulation the eggs will be selling at 67 cents a dozen or higher in December, unless some change is made by OPA. That price will be the highest since the last World War.

However, the new prices do mark a four-to-six-cents a dozen set-back for some sales. The lack of differentiation between whites and browns is expected to make up the loss, however.

While there are more laying hens in the country than ever before, Mr. Hoffman said, the number of eggs is becoming less and less because of poor management caused by lack of farm labor to handle the chickens, poorer and more expensive feeds, and increased consumption of chickens and eggs.

Egg production on Pennsylvania farms in May continued at unprecedented high levels which prevailed during the first four months of the year, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service disclosed today.

The greater number of layers, showing an increase of nearly 1,000, 000 birds, more than offset the decline in production per bird compared with May of 1942. Production in May was placed at 276,000,000 eggs compared with 263,000,000 eggs in the same month last year.

Pullets not yet of laying age in farm flocks were indicated to be 26 per cent more numerous on June 1 than on the same date 12 months earlier. Mortality of layers was said to be about 7 per cent higher in May of this year than in the same month of 1942.

The number of eggs per layer last May was put at 17.95 compared with 18.23 a year earlier and 17.73 in April. The report shows the average price received by commercial poultrymen for a dozen eggs was 38.8 cents, a slight increase over April and an advance of more than nine cents over May of last year.

The average price per pound received for live chickens was 28.8 cents, compared with 29.5 cents in April and 20.3 cents in May of 1942. The average cost of 100 pounds of laying mash was $3.14, a gain of two cents over the April price and 24 cents more than in May of last year.

OPA Tells Plans For Stove Ration

In anticipation of the rationing of domestic cooking and heating stoves that are fired by gas, oil or coal, stove dealers in the 10-county area of the Harrisburg OPA District including Adams county, met at the Dauphin county courthouse Wednesday night and heard the new rationing program explained by OPA representative for heating and cooking equipment.

Graves gave no indication as to when the new program would go into effect but he pointed out that stoves to be rationed are gas burning cooking ranges and gas heaters, coal and wood burning cooking ranges and heaters, and oil burning cooking ranges and heaters.

On the non-rationed list will be electric ranges, water heaters, bucket-a-day stoves, salamander heaters, caboose stoves, floor furnaces, central heating equipment and all cooking and heating equipment for commercial, industrial, agricultural or institutional uses.

James A. Craig, Harrisburg, District heating and cooking equipment representative, stressed the point that OPA does not want to inflict hardships; that it wants to distribute stoves where they will do the most good.

The meeting was sponsored by the Harrisburg OPA District office and R. M. Tussing, acting district rationing officer, presided.

Loose stamps may not be used by a consumer and they must not be accepted by the seller or transferor."

BENDERSVILLE MAN IS ADEPT IN MANY ARTS

By LEIGHTON C. TAYLOR

Not long since I had the pleasure, in these columns, of congratulating one of our highly respected citizens and businessmen, William L. Snyder, upon his 87th birthday anniversary, and so many kindly and favorable comments have reached me from Mr. Snyder's friends and admirers concerning that article that I am persuaded to call the attention of TIMES readers to another interesting Bendersville personality, Oliver Perry House.

One hundred years ago Mr. House's father, Oliver Perry House, Sr., who hailed from Baltimore, and who belonged to the well-known House and Morgan families of colonial Maryland, fell in love with and married an Adams county girl, Miss Catherine Weaver, of Center Mills. This young couple concluded to establish themselves near the bride's parents, and Bendersville, then in its infancy, was chosen as their future home. To this union 11 children were born, 7 boys and 4 girls, all of whom lived to maturity, and in due course were to be found in various occupations, far from the Old Home Town. Yes; all but one, Oliver Perry, Jr.

Unique Character

No other name, unless it be that of Bender, after whom our town is named, is more closely associated and identified with Bendersville than the name of House. Oliver Perry, Jr., the subject of our sketch, is now in his 83rd year, and a more unique character, in many respects, it would be hard to find. When I see men of the Perry House type that old reliable standby—good at any time for a Friday afternoon school oration—Sir Thomas Gray's Elegy written in a Country Church Yard, comes to mind: "Full many a flower is born to blush unseen and waste its sweetness on the desert air." Paraphrasing Sir Thomas, full many a genius is born to waste his talents in restricted and circumscribed fields of endeavor.

This man, Oliver Perry House, was born with a natural and peculiar aptitude for everything mechanical, and had he gone where native mechanical ingenuity is recognized, and afforded an opportunity to flourish and develop I am sure he would have been one of our outstanding mechanical engineers.

Master Craftsman

However, Mr. House decided to throw his lot with the place of his birth, and during all of his 83 years, barring accidents, he has never had a serious illness. And a more self-sufficient individual it would be difficult to meet. There isn't anything negative in his makeup. All problems arising in the daily routine of living are met in their stride, and the declaration "can't be done" is foreign to Mr. House's vocabulary. During his long career he has been in the main a salesman, nurseryman, farmer, and carrier of the mail for Uncle Sam; and, incidentally, a carpenter, blacksmith, plumber, electrician, painter, etc. Yes; at odd moments, with a little persuasion, he will even cut your hair.

Collector Of Gadgets

The gentler arts, too, have beguiled him from time to time. The story goes that in his younger days, although having no ear for music, he nevertheless, following his bent for diversification, helped organize and played in the Bendersville Brass Band; and, while he contributed much to the dignity of that famous organization, it was generally understood that he didn't know one note from another, and, upon one occasion, when the band was giving an open air concert, he was apprehended playing an entire selection with his music upside down.

For many years Mr. House has been acquiring and collecting machinery and tools for use in his numerous and varied activities, and a visit to his shop is an education in itself. There is nothing in the mechanical line, if asked for, that can't be produced, but when, is the problem. Like the old lawyer who kept all of his papers in a barrel because, as he said, he at least knew where they were even though he couldn't instantly lay his hands on them, Mr. House has a thousand and one gadgets in his shop, but to find any one of them the same day would require the services of a clairvoyant. Wheels, belts, pulleys, and levers are everywhere. With a few turns of this intricate and complicated machinery a rough piece of timber is by some almost magic process converted into a handsome and useful household fixture, while at the other end of the shop the same mechanical contrivance will no doubt be churning a freezer of delicious ice cream or other frozen delicacy.

As an example of Mr. House's innate craftsmanship, he not only designed and built a very ornate and cleverly constructed playhouse for his little granddaughter, but also manufactured a full complement of miniature furnishings—kitchen, dining, living and bedroom suites,

Gas Ration Of County Man Is Lifted By OPA

Junior Noble, Littlestown, was found guilty of violating OPA gasoline use regulations following a hearing June 18 and his "A" rationing book has been suspended for the duration, the New Oxford War Price and Rationing Board announced Friday.

Noble was the first Adams county man to be convicted of OPA violations under the new gasoline regulations.

George M. Taughinbaugh, New Oxford R. D. 2, who appeared before the board at a hearing at the same time was found not to have violated the gasoline regulations. The charge had been laid by neighbors, a board spokesman stated.

Jacob Britcher, Baltimore street, has been promoted from lieutenant to captain, it has been learned here. Captain Britcher is in the supply division at Warner Robbins field, Macon, Georgia.

LICENSED TO WED

A marriage license has been issued at the court house to Paul Irvin Oaster, Camp Pickett, Virginia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Oaster, Hanover R. 4, and Odell Florence Wolf, daughter of Mrs. Maude Lee Wolf, McSherrystown.

all in excellent taste and beautifully finished.

"Charmed Life"

But what really excites the curiosity and admiration of Mr. House's friends and associates is the osity and admiration of Mr. House's On no less than a half dozen different occasions he has flirted with the grim reaper in a really serious fashion. When a comparatively young man one of his horses, a large stallion, literally tore him to pieces. Only the skill and daring of the late Doctor Stover saved his life. Thus began a series of accidents, recovery from which has been nothing short of miraculous. His most recent adventure into the realm of fate had to do with a rather spectacular bare-back riding act.

As told to the writer, Mr. House was trying to persuade one of his 500 pound hogs, by the gentle art of pushing from behind, to walk up a ramp into a truck. The somewhat confused porker didn't take kindly to said pushing and shoving, and, abruptly turning around, ran head-on between Mr. House's legs. To properly portray what happened thereafter a cartoonist and not a writer should be employed. With our good friend astride his husky steed, in reverse, away they went, up hill and down dale. The first time around Mr. House, with the help of neither boots nor saddle, rather skillfully stayed with his mount, but he failed to negotiate a sharp turn at the beginning of the second lap, and, while a nearby woodpile did little to cushion the fall, he nevertheless came up smiling none the worse for the wear. Yes; his friends and neighbors say he has what it takes, and that he's good for many more breath-taking and hair-raising experiences.

Last February Mr. and Mrs. House celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary. With their three sons and daughters-in-law, and their whom are in the armed forces, their fourteen grandchildren, two of represent the typical American family, the kind of home and family that this country is now fighting to foster and maintain.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sirs:

I wish to send my much delayed appreciation for your service edition of the "Times." The news I obtain from it really takes the place of a lot of letters. It helps me to keep up with the happenings around my home community. Like most service men, I like to receive mail, but as for answering it, it's quite the opposite. So we in the service really get lots of news from you without writing but a few letters.

I would like to tell you of my work, but of course it's impossible. As you can gather by looking at my address, I am stationed at Norfolk Army Base, Hampton Roads Port of Embarkation, Norfolk, Virginia. I like being a military policeman and also being stationed at a port of embarkation. As an MP we get to see and do lots that other service men do not even know about.

Norfolk is quite a busy place. Its population is now 450,000 people compared to the 200,000 before the war. It has all branches of the service, such as the Navy, Marine, Army, WAVES, WAAC's, SPAR, Air Force, Army and Navy nurses, and also has members of the new branch of the Marines for women. Most of the service men are Navy. This is due to the Norfolk Naval Training Station, which is two and a half miles from here, and is the fourth largest naval base in the United States. Before the war it was the largest, but now Sampson, New York, Bainbridge, Maryland, and Great Lakes are rated before Norfolk.

The main place for service men and women is on the beach. We are lucky to have two very nice beaches within streetcar or bus reach. They are Virginia Beach and Oceanview Park. You will find that most service men and women spend their free time there. You can swim free of charge and there are also amusements.

I shall close now, thanking you again for the paper I receive so regularly.

CORPORAL CLYDE HELLER, M. P. Det., H. R. P. E., Barracks 210, Norfolk Army Base, Norfolk, Virginia.

Dear Sir:

I am dropping you a few lines to tell you that I get your paper out here and sure do enjoy it. Although we are on maneuvers now and not in base camp, I still get the paper and read it under a little tree somewhere on the desert.

News from good old Adams county sure does pep you up. About all I get done is drink water, but it sure does taste good for it is so hot here. I have a good sun tan. Wish a lot of those people in there were out here with us. We have movie actors come out from Hollywood and put on shows for us. I saw Kay Kaiser and his band, and Carole Landis. Oh, boy! Well this Army life is not so bad. I want to say hello to all my friends back there in Gettysburg and vicinity, also mother and dad and my wife.

I cannot thank you enough for sending me the "Times." There are a lot of boys from Pennsylvania out here where I am. Bye, bye, and good luck.

Yours truly,

PVT. ALBERT H. ENGLEBERT, Co. D-87, Rcn. Bn. 7, Arm. Div., c-o Postmaster, Los Angeles, Calif. APO. 257.

Dear Sir:

Just because I haven't written before this, I hope you don't consider me too ungrateful for the consideration you have shown by sending the Gettysburg Times to me. I sincerely appreciate your thoughtfulness, for it has supplied me with a link that keeps me in contact with the home front, although it is hundreds of miles away.

Since my induction three months ago I've been kept quite busy getting oriented to the army way of life. After a brief stay at the New Cumberland Reception Center, I was transferred to Jefferson barracks, Missouri. Here I was subjected to a rigid period of basic training. Perhaps everyone looks on their alma mater of basic training with something akin to disfavor, but I will say that J. B. presented excellent entertainment and recreational facilities for one during off duty hours.

While there I qualified through certain tests for the Army Special Training Program, and that is why I am here at the University of Nebraska for the present. This is known as a Special Training and Reassignment unit whose service it is to clarify us and then ship us on for training to numerous other colleges and universities. I have been selected for mechanical engineering and will be transferred now to take up my actual training elsewhere.

There is really little more that I can say, but I think this little poem I clipped from the paper is a timely item with which to close.

"The censor says I can't say much and can't talk of so and so and such; Can't even say we're having weather Or you'd put two and two together; Can't say just where I am, or what, Can't tell you why, or if, or but; Can't tell you what we do or don't, Or if we might, or will, or won't;

But, I can send my thanks to you Without restrictions—so I do!"

Sincerely,

PVT. RICHARD S. FOHL, S.T.A.R.S., A.S.T.C., Co. A, Agricultural College Campus, Lincoln, Nebraska

Dear Sir:

I wish to again make a change in my mailing address. It is now: Pvt. Donald M. Smith, Co. B, 1546 S U A S T U, West Virginia University, Morgantown, West Virginia.

Before being transferred to this university I was stationed at Stanford university, Calif., for 12 days, awaiting shipment to a regular training unit.

I arrived here Wednesday morning, along with one hundred other fellows, to take up basic engineering for from three to nine months. After every three months we will be entitled to a seven-day furlough.

I wish to thank you very much and tell you how much I appreciate your sending me The Gettysburg Times free of charge. I enjoy reading the local news and also the letters from other fellows in the service and to find out where they are.

An enthusiastic reader,

PVT. DONALD M. SMITH

Dear Sir:

I want to express my gratitude to you for sending me the Gettysburg Times every week. It is one thing which I look forward to receiving. To know the news at home is the desire of every soldier and one that is appreciated very much.

I came here to Key Field from Oklahoma A & M college where I took a course in engineering and operations. After arriving here I was put in the orderly room where I find my work very interesting. This may not be the kind of work most people think I am doing after being raised as a mechanic and is not one which I desire most but then we are in this war for one purpose and it takes many men to do the different work.

The other week we had a pilot here who is in the RAF and after flying one of the American dive bombers he claims that it is the best plane he has ever flown. This man is the most noted world's ace and is here on a mission.

I find things here that are raised and canned in Adams county. The food here is the best I have eaten any place since I have been in the Army but believe me I have as yet to eat food like I received at home. Hoping to see you again soon.

PFC RICHARD H. PHEL

636th Bombardment Squadron (D) 408th Bombardment Grp. (D), AAF Key Field, Meridian, Miss.

Dear Sir:

I will take the pleasure in writing you a few lines to tell you how much I appreciate receiving The Gettysburg Times.

Through your paper I keep in touch with many of my friends who are in the armed forces and all the up-to-date news from home.

I wish to thank you for sending the paper to all the boys from home who are in the armed forces.

Sincerely,

PFC. WELDO FUNT,

87th Bomb. Squadron,

Will Rogers Field,

Oklahoma City, Okla.

Dear Sir:

For five consecutive months I have been receiving "The Times" regularly. After a long period of delay I am now writing to express my hearty thanks. It sure brings your thoughts close to home when you are able to read some of the things that are going on there.

Since I left Gettysburg I have really seen a great deal of the southern states. After leaving the New Cumberland reception center I arrived in Lococo, Georgia, which is situated high in the hills of this state. Lococo is a reception center for fellows that hope to be future paratroopers. Here I encountered a severe disappointment as I was rejected. The reason, I didn't have enough molars. This will give you some idea of what physical standards a paratrooper has to stand up to.

Leaving Georgia I then went to the close neighboring state of Virginia. Here a new outfit of young fellows, none which are over twenty-one, was formed. I still would like to be what I originally signed up for, but for second choice the Coast Artillery can't be equalled. For ten solid weeks we took what the Army gave us in the way of training and now are full-fledged coast artillerymen. We think, and as every soldier thinks of his own outfit, that we have the best organization ever formed and that we can't be beat.

Most of the boys in this outfit are from the south, but I sure must say they are the finest bunch of fellows that anyone could hope to find. More than once the Civil War is fought over again. All is in fun, the reason for this, I believe, is the southern fellow doesn't get angry very easily. I won't try to explain why.

Thanking you again for the paper and wishing good hunting to all my friends in the service.

2 ACCUSED IN HIT-RUN CASE

Green paint that scratched off their car when it is said to have struck another machine Saturday morning and the loss of two hubcaps led state and Hanover police to identify Merle Rickrode, Hanover, and Dale F. McIntire, McSherrystown, as occupants of the car said by police to have collided with a parked auto owned by Burnell A. Krumrine, Hanover, in Midway.

Rickrode was driving the car which was owned by McIntire, according to state Trooper James Treas, of the local sub-station, when the car is said to have struck the Krumrine auto. The two men continued on their way without stopping to leave their names, police allege.

After the accident was discovered later Saturday morning police found green paint on the parked machine and two hubcaps that had been knocked off the McIntire car.

Rickrode has been charged by Private Treas with failure to stop at the scene of an accident and leave his name and with driving without a license before Justice of the Peace L. G. Kuhn, Conewago township. McIntire has been charged with permitting Rickrode to drive without a license. Ten-day notices were sent the defendants.

Postpone Sentence Of So. Mountain Youth

Sentence was deferred by Judge Watson R. Davison in the case of David Ned Monn, 18, of South Mountain, who pleaded guilty Saturday in Franklin county court, Chambersburg, to a charge of robbery. He was remanded to jail pending disposition of the cases of two co-defendants in juvenile court Tuesday afternoon.

Monn is jointly charged with Robert Hess, 17, and Clarence Hess, 15, brothers, also of South Mountain, with attacking and robbing Nicholas Michael, of Shennandoah, of a small amount of money the night of June 29 as he was walking to the Forney hotel at South Mountain from a taproom. URGES CARE OF SQUARE PLOT

"I am a lover of flowers and shrubbery. I do think the square at present is a disgrace to Gettysburg. The weeds are so high and if left to continue there will be difficulty in reading the chart of Victory Bond sales."

"If due to shortage in labor, I would be willing to offer my help and I think a lot more citizens of Gettysburg would do likewise."

"A Citizen of Adams county"

The above communication received by The Gettysburg Times on Tuesday brought favorable reaction from a member of the citizens' committee which promoted the beautifying of the center square plot several years ago.

Approximately $1,000 was spent to beautify the plot, the committee member said. Part was a contribution from the Chamber of Commerce and the balance was paid by council. Care of the plot was delegated to council. Heretofore the janitor at the engine house took care of the plot.

The present plantings followed the reduction of the center plot to eliminate traffic hazards and the former water fountains had been removed because of the danger to youngsters who ran across the square to the fountains. Benches in the plot also were removed at the same time.

OPA Announces Cherry Ceilings

Effective last Saturday, maximum prices for sour red cherries sold for table use and home canning, to which only 10 per cent of the crop normally goes, have been established by the Office of Price Administration.

The cherries will be sold under fixed mark-up at retail and will be somewhat higher than last year in cost to the ultimate consumer.
